PCH Village Learns "There Are No Strangers Here, Just People You've Never Met"

People moving into a brand-new community are like newly-weds. It takes time to get used to living together, and the way isn't always rosy.

But Princeton Community Village is beginning to live and think more like a family and less like a group of strangers set down suddenly in a strange land

An Easter dance for middle-schoolers will be held Saturday night and everybody expects it to be as successful as the March 12th teen dance. An after-school program for middle-schoolers begins this week, in co-operation with the Y. Before long, Kleinberg Field of some four acres across Bunn Drive will be cleared and ready for the first thwack of the ball on the bat.

There are plans for a Food Co-op, a vitamin co-op, even a cheese co-op, a trade-off of kids' outgrown clothing, a barter where you can swap old books, records, appliances.

Next week, there will be a Spring Clean-up Day, not only to clean up winter leaves, but to get out in the sun and start to know each other.

Remote on its rocky, wooded hillside, PCH village has had its problems. It's over half a mile to the foot of Bunn Drive where it meets North Harrison and a long way just to the Shopping Center, to say nothing of uptown Princeton. Many families have only one parent, usually a working mother, and kids haven't had any outlet for after-school energies.

Vandalism of apartments, cars and laundry, bullying of younger children, verbal abuse of women as they walked through the village--all these were dismaying problems of the winter months. Township Juvenile Officer Anthony Pinelli held several meetings at the village with residents and their children, and management warned that families would be evicted if abuses didn't stop.

"Nobody had answers to a lot of these questions," recalls Ralph deThomas, co-president of the Tenant Council. "We had group meetings of all the tenants, we aired our problems. All the vandalism, a couple of breaking-and-entry things --- everyone is so vulnerable here! You've got to be involved with your neighbor in a positive way. If you share good times, it may be easier to solve problems.

"We expect Kleinberg Field to take off a lot of steam," Mr. deThomas adds.

Because PCH village is strewn with huge boulders and is hilly besides, there is no place for playing fields. The pipeline is there, but it doesn't serve that purpose. Dr. and Mrs. William Kleinberg are allowing the village to use three or four acres of land they own on Bunn Drive. It's

AN OLD-FASHIONED PICNIC: When's the last time you saw a man in a white business shirt paddling a canoe? And those hats! It was long, long ago on Lake Carnegie (probably related to a crew race — see that mob on shore?), and the Arts Council hopes the scene will be repeated Sunday, May 2, when the annual Art People party is held not far from this spot on the Washington Street bridge. More details on page 7.

INJUNCTION?

Council May Be Studying. Borough Council has asked its attorney, Gordon Griffin, whether an injunction might be obtained to keep school board officials from signing contracts with teachers and administrators, it was learned this week.

The matter was not discussed Tuesday in Council's public session; however, the school budget was announced as an item of discussion for the executive session following Tuesday's public meeting.

Council introduced an ordinance banning moped bikes from sidewalks and bikepaths and scheduled a public hearing for May 11. Council also agreed to extend for six months the variance obtained by Timothy Sheehan to build more retail stores into his building at Nassau and Markham.

Michele Harrison, 32 Bank, presented a petition from Bank Street residents asking for 24-hour parking privileges in the Chambers Street lot. Council turned the problem over to its public works committee.

Edgehill Street residents also had a complaint: heavy traffic during rush hours. A police survey found 90 cars during a 90-minute period and Council member Jan Schneier said, "We need a solution with all due speed."

Mayor Robert W. Cawley again expressed agreement with the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority's recommendation for a single-plant sewer system. he warned Borough residents once again of possible high costs.

After hearing Betty Fussell tally 2,500 signatures opposed to Sameric movie policies, Council asked her to develop alternative proposals which might be presented to the University, owner of Princeton's two movie houses.

HOUSING MOVES ALONG

Toward Pubtic Hearing. "It's not that we seek expansion and more people," observed Golda Gottlieb, chairman of the Planning Board's housing committee, "but we want to be prepared if they show up."

The housing proposals of this committee were discussed broadly Tuesday night in advance of formal presentation next Tuesday at 8 p.m. to the Ptanning Board's work session in Borough Hall. After the Planning Board, they will go to governing bodies and then to public hearing late this spring.

The "village" concept is a "notion" the committee still subscribes to, its members said, along with the idea of subsidies for low and middle-income housing. The Committee is talking about trade-offs with developers, allowing high-density developments in return for a certain percentage of low to mid-income units.

The Real Estate Research Corporation's surveys for the Planning Board came up with the figure of 35 percent, the board members said.

Township Mayor Jay Bleiman pressed for drafting a housing ordinance now, before any incorporation into the Master Plan.

"These 15 and 20-acre developments are nickel-and-diming us," he protested. "We're developing by use-variance."

But Jerome Rose, of the housing committee, said zoning must be based on a Master Plan, according to the new state land-use law. When Margen Penick, asked whether the committee had considered it appropriate to talk about the fiscal impact of big developments on sewers, roads, schools and so on, Mr. Rose said it was essential to consider such impact on a community, and this was not contrary to the Mt. Laurel decision, in his opinion.

That is the court decision requiring New Jersey communities to absorb lower-income families into the housing plan.

Mr. Rose told the board that unless Princeton had a plan to show how it planned to fulfill the Mt. Laurel requirements, the town ran the risk of housing densities greater than it wanted.

"We must have a plan, to allow the town to grow rationally, and not in response to developers," he said, adding, "No -- we are not contemplating high-density throughout the town, quite the contrary."

And Mrs. Gottlieb affirmed, "Amen!"

a big enough plot for both playing fields and gardens and it will be put to use as soon as it's cleared and graded.

The Y, under Bill Alexander, is setting up a co-ed program for kids in the middle-school age range. It will be an indoor and outdoor program of recreational activities, and it will run through June 23 on Tuesdays and Thursdays after school.

A youth fund has been started to buy play equipment for the village itself. On March 28, there was a car-wash on Red Oak Row.

"Those who got the wet-test," says the report in Vol. 1, No. 2 of "Village Voice II", "were Leslie, who was boss of the gang; Bruce, Amy, David and Paul....What makes this car wash special is that every quarter of every dollar goes to the Youth Fund." The take was $10.50.

Can You Help? Not much indoor play space, either. The "A" basement is being soundproofed and the village is looking for rugs and ping-pong tables. Senior residents, just beginning to move into the five-story high rise, are demanding to know when bingo games can begin.

The Easter dance will be held in that "A" basement, and three parents have offered to be hosts and provide refreshments. Children 9-12 years old are to come from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., and teens are invited from 10 until midnight.

Unfortunately, fire laws prohibit using a basement as a play space for children, and Mr. deThomas says the village is thinking about turning over an entire apartment for use as a play area. The Township government has applied for Federal money to build a community building.

For the March dance--held in the Greenbrier basement--kids did all the planning, brought their own records and charged admission to pay for refreshments.

In the Village Voice II story, the last sentence on the dance is, "Next time, maybe more parents will pitch in and help out a little more."

Butternut Row -- streets are named after trees -- had a covered-dish supper in March at the deThomas' apartment, and residents plan a picnic when weather improves.

Dynamo at Work. "Most people don't have a sense of community or know their immediate neighbors, and that's true not just here in the village," Mr. deThomas has found. Research librarian at Gallup and Robinson, Mr. deThomas is a cheerful dynamo who, with his equally energetic wife, is committed to making the community work.

"We have to have a community to survive," Mrs. deThomas says emphatically, "problems can split you apart."

"Last Christmas about 30 of us went around caroling," Mr. deThomas laughs. "It was amazing how many people were overjoyed to hear us out there in the cold, singing so badly! But other people -- they looked at us as though we came from another planet. They just weren't used to a community."

The covered-dish supper at the deThomas' apartment brought together people who work, some of them on irregular shift hours, and who therefore hadn't had a chance to meet each other before.

"They found things in common, unexpectedly," Mrs. deThomas reports, "I'd say 60 percent of the families here are headed by a single female with anywhere from one to four kids. When you're newly divorced or separated, it's good emotionally to find other women in the same situation, and at our party they all found each other and gathered in a corner to talk. There are so many ways they can help each other."

The village is an inter-racial community and Mr. deThomas constantly urges people to "Talk! Rap! Communicate!"

"Getting together and talking keeps problems from arising," he believes, "one black talking to one white can be positive or negative, depending on what we make of it."

Lots of Verve. The verve of the community is evident, not only in kids frisking around the rocks and trees during this school vacation week, but in the variety of people and the ways they've looked at their all-alike apartments and made them individual.

The artist, for example, who did vivid murals all over the apartment in waterpoint which can be washed off when the family moves. The lady with so many plants her apartment makes neighboring Herrontown Woods look like a desert. The glistening mod decor of one young couple, the treasured family pieces in a retired couple's mid rise apartment.

Village Voice II has its own special flavor. Edited by Claire Beskind, it runs classifieds ("anyone interested in forming a play group for two-year-olds?"..."Need something done around your apartment? Reasonable rates")...contains information from management about air-conditioners, re-cycling and a warning about solicitors — they are forbidden.

The last item in the current issue is a recipe for vanilla refrigerator cookies from Adam Buckner, age 11. It ends: "Watch out for cookie thieves!"

"I hope, as we solve our problems, that we don't get too complacent about our community up here," Mr. deThomas says, "I'd like to see us get down into the town and use its resources—the library, for example. I want to tell people everything Princeton can offer."

People are still moving in, and as Mrs. deThomas says with a sigh, they haven't energy for anything except the moving process. As more and more elderly move into the mid rise, the composition of the village will change and when it's full, "PCV" will be, in a sense, a small town-within-a-town, with its some 250 families.

"When we're all moved in," Mrs. deThomas says, "and when spring and summer come and we see who our neighbors are, there will be more and more community."

BATTLE OF PRINCETON?

Buses Cause Concern. How many Bicentennial tourists will come by bus to Princeton?

It's not knowing that makes Township Committee restless. At Monday night's workshop session, Committee members squirmed in their seats and asked each other whether you could require permits, and would you set a quota of so-many per day? And how would you keep buses off the grass, and what about those bridges!

The two frail bridges in the Battlefield area cause the greatest concern. One, of course, is the 18th-century bridge over Stony Brook on Mercer. Clearly it cannot take fleets of giant buses between now and the Fourth of July. The second is the bridge at Port Mercer on Quaker Bridge Road.

Should the Township ban parking along Mercer Road near the Battlefield? There are no great big parking areas anywhere. If fleets of buses arrive simultaneously at Clarke House on the Battlefield, for example, will they simply trample the grass as they park?

TOWN TOPICS is delivered without charge to every home in Princeton Borough and Township and to part or all of West Windsor, Lawrence, Hopewell, Montgomery, South Brunswick and Franklin Townships and Griggstown. At all newsstands, including TOWN TOPICS' office, it costs 20 cents.

Starting this Saturday, Mercer Metro will run a Bicentennial tour up from Trenton. But it will come in on Stockton, make a U-turn and go out Mercer, investigating Battlefield and Friends Meeting House, then turning back to Palmer Square where its tourists will get off. The bus will then go down Washington to park near the University's boat house, return to pick up its passengers and go back down Stockton to Trenton.

What does the Borough feel about all this? So far, Committee members said Monday, they haven't heard of any Borough action. Committee itself decided not to try and regulate, merely to post signs warning buses off the two bridges.

In other business Monday, Committee decided to ask bidders for the north side of Community Park to extend the acceptance deadline beyond April 28, when it would expire, to May 3. Committee wants to know whether the state will accept a reduced recreation project.

Committee will introduce at next Monday's meeting ordinances for the Random Road sewer and Braeburn Drive culvert and possibly the Greenhouse Drive sewer. The salary ordinance will be up for public hearing.

600 APARTMENTS

On University Land. Detailed plans for the 600-unit housing development at Princeton University's Forrestal Center are now being prepared by the development team selected by the University. The developers are 20th Century Construction Company and the Fidelity First Corporation, both of Cherry Hill.

The proposed village is being planned to occupy 75 acres of land -- to be sold to the developers by the University if University officials like the plans -- between Route 1 and River Road in Plainsboro. Housing would be set back from Lake Carnegie and the canal, and the wooded bluff along River Road would be left in its natural state.

Tentative plans call for 30 percent of the units -- 180 -- to be townhouses with sale prices in the "lower end" of the range of prices for housing in this area. An additional 20 percent, or 120, would be rental apartments constructed with mortgage subsidies, if possible. The University hopes Federal rent supplements might be available for some of these families.

The rest of the project would include apartments and townhouses at various rentals and sale prices. Units would have from one to four bedrooms and would be available to the public.

Pricing will not be fixed until detailed planning has been completed, financing arranged and government subsidies assured, the University said this week.

SURVEY SUGGESTED

On Public's Evaluation of Schools. "I'd like the school board to do a survey on what people think of Princeton's school system," Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week.

He told his press conference he'd had "a lot of favorable comment" to remarks he made two weeks ago about Princeton schools. The mayor had quoted people who told him they were dissatisfied and didn't think their children were getting "quality education".

"My comments were related to the per-pupil cost and the high level of staffing," the mayor continued, "If they cut the administration, it would go a long way toward correcting some of that -- and we've asked for it now two years in a row."

The mayor was referring to requests from Borough Council and Township Committee that the school board make slices in the administrative staff as one way to save money.

"I was only reporting comments by people -- not authoritative studies – and people just don't think they're getting quality, related to the high cost per-pupil," the mayor said.

"I think this is a crucial area of decision, and I'd like to see public comment and discussion. Perhaps the board could make a survey."

SMALL FIRE MONDAY

At Drumthwacket. A small fire occurred Monday shortly before noon at Drumthwacket on Mercer Road.

Police report that painters were burning off old paint when a small portion of the clapboard caught fire. Damage was minor. Police and two volunteer fire trucks responded.

Fire also damaged the interior of a car parked Saturday afternoon in a lot adjacent to Jadwin Cage on the Princeton University campus.

Police, identifying the owner as Mark A. Burdwood, 156 N. Harrison Street, said cause of the fire is unknown. Damage to the car was described as "total."

Youth Center for the furnishing of its lounge.

Young Oldham is a junior at Princeton High School where he has done "a fine job in a strong academic curriculum," according to the guidance department. He excells at basketball and was the high scorer on the team this year as well as being nominated to the All-Mercer County Second Team. He also served with distinction on the Principal's bi-racial advisory group.

He has been an active member of the Youth Center and has served on its Board of Directors. Corinne Steinline is coordinating the Center's refurbishing project for which donations of suitable furniture would be welcome. It is hoped to have the redecoration completed by Memorial Day in time for dedication of the lounge to the memory of Paul Robeson.

HOME IS ENTERED

On Morgan Place. The home of Harold L. Crane, 15 Morgan Place, was entered Thursday between 8 a.m. and 4:45 by a thief who stole approximately $225 in change from a bedroom bank.

Police report that the owner discovered his bedroom ransacked when he returned home. Entry was gained by prying a bedroom window. Det. Samuel Bianco is continuing the investigation.

The same day in the Borough, a home on lower Nassau Street was entered between 9 and 3:50.

The thief broke a pane of glass in a kitchen door and once inside he ransacked drawers in a den, taking $800 and $100 in silver. Det. Robert McAvenia is continuing that investigation.

The Western Union office at 205 Nassau Street was broken into early last week and $205 was taken from a cash box in the main office. Police report no signs of forced entry.

There were two thefts from campus dorms.

A $130 calculator and a $130 tape recorder-radio were stolen from a student's room at the Princeton Inn College. Police said that the intruder was nearly apprehended by the owner when he returned to his room but he managed to escape from the same ground floor window through which he had entered. A screen had been removed to gain entry.

Taken from a room in Cuyler Hall was a stereo receiver valued at $250. The victim told police that he had locked the door and windows except for one window on the east side.

Chief Michael Carnevale reports there are two suspects. One is described as 5-10, stocky, clean shaven wearing a black leather jacket and dark sunglasses; the other as 6-0, light shaven, with a small Afro, wearing a brown jacket, reddish trousers and neck beads.

A Borough resident lost $18 and his $50 wristwatch when his Y locker was rifled between 5:10 and 6:20 Friday afternoon. It had been locked, police said.

Three bicycles were stolen in the Borough -- all on Sunday.

A 10-speed Columbia was taken from in front of the Princeton Inn College, a 10-speed Raleigh was taken from a front porch on Mercer Street -- both were valued at $100 -- and a 3-speed Sears woman's model was stolen from the garage of a Hamilton Avenue resident.

To All Amateurs. Black and white or color prints -- the only requirement is amateur status if you want to enter the Princeton University Store's third annual photo contest. No slides, please.

Application blanks are available in the camera department and the deadline is Wednesday, April 21 at 5:30 p.m. The following Monday, April 26, the prints will go on display at the store, and will be on view through Saturday, May 8.

Judges will be local professional artist-photographers. They are Nina Alexander, co-founder of the photo studio Focus 411, whose prints are in the Metropolitan Museum of Art Collection and have been shown at the New Jersey Art Museum; Randall Hagadorn, free-lance for the past 12 years, with pictures in Life, Newsweek, on CBS-TV and NET and at the Museum of Modern Art, and Michael Pfeiffer of Grovers Mill Graphic, graphic artist and photographer.

Heavy rain April 1, a bit more on April 4, a trace or two since then, and that's about all we've had this month. What's in store?

Well, the Man reports the mild spring weather we've been waiting for almost since spring began will dominate the scene for the next several days, with the temperature quite possibly reaching 70 on more than one occasion. He doesn't see any major precipitation in the immediate future — Easter Sunday skies should be generally fair.

Monday's thermometer readings in the 20s sent mean temperature for the month well below normal. As a result, the first two weeks of April have produced numerous 24-hour averages below those which were recorded in the last fortnight of February.

4 JUVENILES CHARGED

With Drug, Beer Possession. Four Princeton juveniles, aged 15 and 16, have been charged by Borough police with breaking and entering and possession of marijuana and beer.

In addition, Chief Michael Carnevale reported that the continuing investigation by Det. Ronald Holliday will "no doubt result in a hearing violation" against a Princeton liquor store.

The youths, three from the Township and one from the Borough, were discovered Monday just before midnight in a closed area of the Coin Wash in the rear of 259 Nassau Street, by Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt and Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm on patrol. All face juvenile charges, Chief Carnevale said.

Two Trenton residents, Herbert E. Adams, 25, and Phillip M. Montgomery, 20, have been charged with trespassing Saturday afternoon in Cuyler Hall on the Princeton University campus. Proctor Cory Kammler signed the complaint summonses.

Anne Willard, 24, of Pine Street, has been charged with shoplifting after she allegedly took food items Friday from Davidson's Market on Nassau Street -- manager Louis Funk was the complainant – and an 18-year old Princeton High School student has been charged with being under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance.

Juvenile officer Douglas Watson and Det. Ronald Holliday responded to a call from the high school reporting that a student was possibly under the influence of a drug. The police investigation revealed that she was allegedly under the influence of a "downer", a barbituate.

Det. Charles Harris and Det. Anthony Pinelli of the Township last week arrested a 15-year old Township juvenile at the Princeton Shopping Center. Police said the youth had sold a stereo tape player that had allegedly been stolen the previous week from a car parked at Patton Avenue and Harrison Street.

He will be charged with larceny by Borough police and with possession of stolen property by the Township.

Driver Charged. Township police have charged Joseph S. Lojko, 49, of Monmouth Junction with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

According to Ptl. John Hammond, Mr. Lojko left the parking lot of the Rusty Scupper Restaurant Sunday night and drove through a fence of the adjacent Princeton Car Wash. He was not injured and later released in 10 percent cash bail of $250.

Stephen B. Towns, 20, of Ewing Township and a 15-year old Princeton juvenile were arrested Thursday night by Ptl. Mario Musso after the officer observed the youth give a small brown bag to Towns who was in a car parked at the intersection of John Street and Leigh Avenue.

Police said their investigation revealed that the bag contained a substance believed to be marijuana.

Towns was later released after being charged with possession of under 25 grams of marijuana; the youth was released to the custody of his parents, pending further juvenile action.

DRIVER HOSPITALIZED

When Car Fails to Stop. Frank McEvoy, 59, 64 Winfield Road, was admitted in serious condition to Princeton Medical Center early Tuesday morning from injuries he received when his car failed to stop at the "T" intersection of Mountain Avenue and The Great Road.

Police said that Mr. McEvoy sustained a fractured skull, fractured hip and severe facial lacerations. He was alone in the car.

According to police, the McEvoy car, traveling on Mountain Avenue, went through the Great Road stop sign and continued on for some 90 to 100 feet into a wooded area across the road, striking several trees. His 1974 sedan was totalled.

Police were called at 12:03 a.m. by Hugh Boyd of 141 Hunt Drive, a loop road off Winfield, who reported hearing moaning sounds coming from the woods.

"We have no idea how long Mr. McEvoy was there," Chief Frederick Porter said. He said that Mr. McEvoy was

PLANS TO BE ON VIEW

For Battlefield Park. The Battlefield Area Preservation Society will exhibit its plan for Battlefield Park on Saturday between 3 and 5 in the Council Room of Borough Hall.

The landscpaing plan commissioned by the Society has been approved by the State, and clearing of overgrown areas has already begun. New planting is scheduled to start next week. Officers of the Society will be on hand to explain the plan, which includes a new access driveway, clearing of historic Clarke Lane and proposed bicycle paths.

Model lead soldiers will be on display, showing American, British and Hessian regiments which fought in the battles of Trenton and Princeton. These models were commissioned by the Society and are being sold as a fund-raising project for the improvement of the Park and the furnishing of the Clarke House.

Also on sale will be maps and books on Revolutionary history; prints of scenes of the Battle of Princeton and of uniforms of that period; and miniature copies of General Washington's headquarters flag at the time of the battles (made especially for the Society). These are being offered as part of the Society's effort to emphasize the historic significance of Princeton in the Revolution, especially in the events between December 26, 1776, and January 3, 1777.

THIRTEEN ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Thirteen Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough Court by Judge Philip Carchman, eight for speeding.

Speeders were Joyce Speich, Line Road, Belle Mead, $17; John P. Murray, Cherry Valley Road, $20; Winston Samaroo, 203 Bertrand Drive, $15; Ellen B. Dunham, 73 Brookstone Drive, $15; Montagnie Van Norden, 404 Fox Run Drive, Plainsboro, $15; Mary T. Lincoln, 6 Baldwin Street, Pennington, $20; Brownwyn Knight, 16 Alexander Street, $15 and Irvin Glassman, 27 Tyson Lane, $20.

Walter Farr, 7 Bayard Lane, and Carmen Spohn, 36 Sycamore Lane, Skillman, were fined $25 and $20 respectively for careless driving. Others: Charles E. Edwards, 29 Stetson Way, failure to obey traffic officer, $15; John Guthrie, 330 Jefferson Road, red light, $15; and Douglas Bell, Cherry Valley Road, improper turn, $20.

Seven in Township. Seven Princeton area residents were fined for speeding last week in Township court.

Judge Carchman levied fines against David Seagers, 987 Mercer Road, $33; Kim B. Buckalew, Route 518, $31; Frederick E. Wyckoff of Skillman, $32; Mary E. Steele, 26 Library Place, $32; John E. Burns, 280 Cold Soil Road, $35; Frank H. Weyman, 484 Prospect Avenue, $36 and Gregg R. Fawkes, 38 Wheatsheaf Lane, $34.

Fined for careless driving were Tim W. Tindall, 49 Van Wyck Drive, Princeton Junction, $50, and Stephen J. O'Neill, 47 Spring Street and David Schuler, Route 206, Skillman, both $35.

Driving an uninsured car cost Hector M. Berrios, Canal Road, a $60 fine and six months revocation of license. Susan A. Smith, 33 Red Oak Row, paid two fines: $15 each for unregistered vehicle and unlicensed driver.

Thomas W. Neceda, 29 Carnahan Place, was fined $50 for failure to keep right, while Cynthia H. Packard, 57 W. Broad Street, Hopewell, paid $20 for failure to make inspection repairs.

TWO TO ZONERS

In Borough. A pair of apartment conversions are the only items on the brief agenda for next Thursday's meeting of the Borough Zoning Board -- 8:15 p.m. in Borough Hall.

The 146 Dundas Corporation will ask conditional use authorization to convert its building on Peck Place, behind 357-59 Nassau. At present, there are three garages on the ground floor and an apartment on the second floor. Dundas wants to convert the structure to two-family use by making an apartment on the ground floor.

Eunice B. Davis would like to make the two-family double house at 27-9 Vandeventer into a three-family house by remodeling one side into two apartments. She too is asking conditional use authorization.

ALUMNI DAY PLANNED

At Princeton Day School. More than 150 alumni of Miss Fine's School, Princeton Country Day School and Princeton Day School will gather at the Great Road campus on Saturday, April 24, for the fifth annual Alumni Day.

The alumni, representing graduating classes as far back as 1906, will be serenaded by the Day School's Madrigal Singers at registration, scheduled for 9:30.

The morning's proceedings will center around a panel discussion on the school's long range plan. Panelists will be Dr. William P. Burks, board chairman; J. Robert Hillier, an architect and alumnus of the school; Headmaster Douglas O. McClure; and Phillips B. vanDusen, Director of Development.

Alumni will be treated to excerpts from "Oklahoma!", the winter production of the PDS drama club. After luncheon, the annual meeting of the Alumni Association, presided over by president Peter Knipe, will be held, followed by alumni-student tennis matches.

Attention, Voters!

If you want to cast your primary ballot June 8 in a different party from the one you last voted in, you must change your affiliation by next Monday, April 19.

The requirement holds no matter how long ago you voted in a primary. If you aren't sure which party you last voted in, you can find out by calling the Mercer County Election Board.

If you do want to change your party, you must obtain a card in person or by mail from the clerk's office in the community you live in, fill it out and return it by next Monday.

Additional information may be obtained from the League of Women Voters, 924-1721 or 394-3303, or from Borough Hall at 924-3119 or Township Hall, 924-5749.

CHINESE AUCTION: Mrs. Oscar J. Owen and Mrs. Norman R. Schechter of the Princeton Area Chapter of Deborah display a 16-piece Salem collection by Staffordshire imported from England, one of more than 100 gifts assembled for Deborah's Chinese Auction on April 30 at the Princeton Elks Club, Blawenburg.

BENEFIT SCHEDULED

To Aid Deborah Hospital. The Princeton Area Chapter of Deborah will hold its second annual Chinese Auction on April 30 to raise funds so that it may continue to sponsor residents at this area to Deborah Hospital. Admission at $1.25 includes unlimited coffee and dessert.

The event will be held at the Princeton Elks Club on Route 518 and the Great Road in Blawenburg beginning at 8. Tickets may be purchased at the door or by calling Jeanne Schechter at 924-6637.

During the past year, 25 patients in the Princeton area have been sponsored by the Chapter of Deborah Hospital for in-depth evaluation, heart catheterization, lung surgery, open heart surgery and general outpatient care.

Deborah Heart and Lung Center is supported entirely on the efforts of its chapters and their fund raising efforts. Those in need of help for cardiovascular or pulmonary disease may expect the necessary care without worry of financial problems which attends so many health problems today. Traditionally, Deborah accepts patients without regard to ability to pay for care and without imposing any bars of race, religion or national origin.

READY FOR MAY 2?

The Art People Are. You can even get there by boat. To the Art People Washington Road Bridge Party, of course. This year, it will be on a Sunday, and the date selected by the Arts Council of Princeton is May 2. Sunshine, of course.

From noon to 4, traffic will be diverted from the bridge, and craftsmen will lay out their wares and their skills, showing pots, hand-woven objects, jewelry. The aim of the Arts Council is to demonstrate the variety, vitality and quality of the art that is being done in Princeton.

If you think you are varied, vital and top-quality, you can still get an application from the Chamber of Commerce (44 Nassau), Public Library or Recreation Department.

You need an application if you plan to arrive by boat, also.

Applications are due back by April 20, so that times and locations can be scheduled.

People who go to the Art People Party are urged to wear a picnic outfit, perhaps including a boater or a duster. You may even win a ribbon.

Bring a picnic basket. Plenty of home-baked things to eat on the spot or take home. Besides hot dogs and fried chicken, there will be Chinese, Italian, Greek and health foods to buy for your picnic snack.

At the picnic, the Historical Society will inaugurate a self-census, providing rag-paper books and fountain pens, of all things, for you to enter names and facts about your families.

Organized by street, the books will be available throughout the Bicentennial year to provide a detailed record of Princeton's 1976 population for Tricentennial readers.

Helikon, the children's writing workshop, will record people's fantasies about Princeton in the year 2076, and may even send copies of these written predictions up in the air in helium balloons, to float over the picnic and the bridge.

Incidentally, you don't have to come by boat. There will be parking in the Jadwin gym lot.

THAT FIFTH SEAT

Township Appointee? The question of the missing fifth member of Township Committee continues to hang, invisibly, like the occupant of the fifth chair, in the air around Township Hall.

Last Friday, Committee held a closed session at the instigation of Elizabeth Hutter, to talk about Mrs. Hutter's proposal for a temporary appointment. The Sunshine law allows closed sessions where litigation is involved -- and the appointment question will be before the Appelate Court April 26 -- or where personnel questions are up for discussion.

Mrs. Hutter proposed an interim appointment at Committee's April 5 meeting, but she met with no support -- not even from her Republican colleague Josie Hall -- and the matter was apparently not pursued.

It is not known whom Mrs. Hutter has proposed as an interim appointee. Administrator Joseph R. Nini said this week that any decision related to Friday's closed meeting would not be announced until Monday.

SEVENTEEN BORN

In Princeton Medical Center. In the week ending April 10, nine girls and eight boys were born in the Medical Center at Princeton.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hull, 231 John Street; Mr. and Mrs. F. Thomas Kull Jr., 90 Rocky Brook Road, Cranbury, both on April 4; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pagano, 139 Acres Drive, Hamilton Square, April 5; Mr. and Mrs. John Arno, 30 Wood Lane, Lawrenceville, April 7; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Loff, 940 Jamestown Road, East Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. Paul N. Messinger, 45 Stonewyck Drive, Belle Mead; Dr. and Mrs. Suresh Shah, 1090 Northgate Apartments, Cranbury, all on April 8; Mr. and Mrs. William Paciak, 4 Cambridge Way, East Windsor; and Mr. and Mrs. John Perdoni, 31 Sherman Street, Jamesburg, both on April 9.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Keith Okolichany, 117 F Northgate Apartments, Cranbury, April 4; Mr. and Mrs. James McDowell, 112 Harding Avenue, Lawrenceville; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Potocki, 81 Blackwell Road, Trenton, both on April 5; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Deichman, 241 Probasco Road, East Windsor; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kern, 304 Evanston Drive, Hightstown, both on April 8; Mr. and Mrs. Harshad Modi, 71 Kingsley Road, Kendall Park; Mr. and Mrs. Matthew S. Rosen, B22 Avon Drive, East Windsor; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sigafoos, 65 Brookwood Road, Trenton, all on April 10.

SECOND FAIR PLANNED

By Quarry Street Group. Although plans for condominiums on the historic Spruce Street Quarry site are still alive, the Quarry Park Association is still actively working to preserve the site for a park. QPA members are currently planning the second annual Spruce Street Fair to be held April 24 from 9-5 at the east end of Spruce Street.

This year's fair will include bedding plants and baked goods for sale, hot dogs, hamburgers, and soft drinks, plus entertainment, games and prizes especially for children and a rummage sale. Rummage donations are welcomed; call 924-1863.

SPECIALIST TO TALK

On Early Children's Books. The Public Library will close its "Celebrate America" Series Tuesday, April 27, at 8 with a program on children and their literature. Avi Wortis, Humanities Librarian at Trenton State College, will discuss the continuing revolution in literature for children, pointing out some milestones along the path from John Cotton's "Spiritual Milk for Boston Babes" to today's "Wild Things".

Mr. Wortis, in addition to his duties as librarian, teaches courses in children's literature, is the author of several books for children, and is an avid collector of old children's books. An exhibit of American children's books from the past two centuries will be on view in the library from April 20 - 27.

Bryne's Rating by New Jersey Voters Lowest Since He Became Governor, State Poll Shows

The New Jersey POLL

New Jersey Governor Brendan Byrne's standing among the state's voters has reached its lowest level since he took office, according to the latest New Jersey Poll. This statewide survey, conducted by the Eagleton Institute of Rutgers University, found that 21 percent gave the Governor a positive rating of "excellent" or "good", while 74 percent gave him a negative rating of "fair" or "poor". The remaining 5 percent were undecided.

Poll officials pointed out that the most striking change in the evaluation of Byrne's performance since the last sounding in October, 1975, is the increased number using the extreme negative rating of "poor". In October, 26 percent gave this response as compared to 34 percent in February.

One year ago in March of 1975 only 17 percent rated the Governor's performance as "poor". Byrne's overall rating last October was 31 percent positive – 61 percent negative.

The State Legislature did not fare much better than the Governor, with a February ranking of 23 percent positive and 66 percent negative. This is virtually unchanged from the 21 percent positive – 68 percent negative ranking in October.

Despite the low evaluation of the Democratic Governor and the Democratic controlled Legislature, more people still think the Democratic party is "better able to run the state government" than the Republican opposition. The Democrats are believed more competent by 43 percent, the Republicans by 24 percent, with 11 percent saying "neither" aod 23 percent unsure.

The Republicans, although still behind, have narrowed the gap since October, when 46 percent chose the Democrats and 20 percent the Republicans.

Not surprisingly, those who call themselves Democrats choose their party as the more able to run the state by a score of 75 – 6 percent, and the Republicans their party by a rating of 65 – 7 percent. Independents, who make up about half of the state's electorate, are more evenly divided, but give the Democrats the edge over the Republicans 35 – 23 percent.

Governor Byrne's low rating comes quite uniformly from the state's various partisan groupings. Democrats rate him at 25 percent positive – 70 percent negative, while the Republicans give him marks of 22 percent positive – 74 percent negative. Independents rank him lowest at 20 percent positive and 76 percent negative.

Liberals, a past source of strong support for the Governor, now give him marks of 20 percent positive and 71 percent negative, slightly lower than conservatives, who rate him at 23 percent positive – 74 percent negative.

Service Agency is offering a group experience directed toward losing excess weight and keeping the newly slimmed permanently slim. Laurel J. Blechman, ACSW, staff family counselor with special expertise in weight reduction, will be the group leader.

Special emphasis will be on initial rapid weight reduction followed by permanent weight maintenance. Training will be given in healthful nutrition and diet cooking tips. At the same time attention will be given to the psychological factors involved in weight reduction. Thus, both the physical and emotional aspects of body weight and image will be dealt with in this program.

Sessions will be held Mondays from 10-11:30 a.m., beginning May 3 through June 21. Fee for the course is $50, payable in advance. Registration will be limited to 12 persons, and early enrollment is recommended. Call Family Service, 924-2098.

Ms. Blechman will lecture on a Family's View of Grief at Mercer County Community College, Tuesday at 7:30. Admission is free.

HEAR 'EM SING

At Senior Center. The Witherspooners, eleven men and women who just like to sing, will give an informal concert next Monday at 7:45 p.m. in the Senior Resource Center at Lloyd Terrace.

The Center is always open to all senior citizens in the Princeton community – it is not necessary to be a Lloyd Terrace resident – and this concert is also open, and free, to all.

The Witherspooners, led by singer Roo Brown, sing old songs and new songs, and the program on Monday will harmonize both kinds. Additional information may be obtained by calling 924-7108.

DOLLS OF OTHER YEARS: The YMCA Antique Show will display a "World of Dolls," all shapes, sizes, types and ages, from the Agnes Sheehan Shop in Kingston. The show, in which 39 antique dealers will participate, will be held Saturday, May 1, from 10 to 10 and Sunday, May 2, from 12 noon to 6. It will benefit the Youth Scholarship Fund.

WINNERS NAMED

In PSC Drawing. Winners of the March gift give-away, sponsored by the Princeton Shopping Center, have been named after they were chosen from more than 3,500 entries by Richard Eldred of Noah's Ark, president of the Center's Merchant's Association.

They are Corrine G. Cassidy of Princeton, winner of the first prize of a television set donated by Bob Lang; Murray Gilbert of East Brunswick, second-place winner of a watch donated by Edward's Jewelers; and Laura Steinmetz of Princeton, third-place winner of a standing palm donated by Princeton Florist Centre.

"SCIENCE OF THE SOUL..."

Topic of Church Speaker. "Science of the Soul, the Path of the Masters" will be the topic of a lecture by Trilochan Singh Khanna Sunday afternoon at 4 at the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road.

Known in India as Ruhani Satsang, Science of the Soul has 16,000 followers in the United States and is open to anyone of any age, culture, religion or belief. Mr. Khanna has been general representative of this science for 19 years. His appearance here is sponsored by the Princeton group of this science.

Mr. Khanna states the belief is a science and not a religion because "it can produce and give evidence of seeing the light of God and hearing the voice of God by opening the inner eye and the inner ear through silent meditation." There is no exertion in the Science of the Soul; it does not try to convert or take collections for money, he said.

A mystic, Mr. Khanna works for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in Washington, D.C. He has spoken on his science throughout the country and internationally.

SIX LECTURES OFFERED

At Seminary Next Week. Dr. Cornelis A. Van Peursen, the 1975-76 Annie Kinkead Warfield Lecturer at Princeton Theological Seminary, will address his April 19-22 series of six public lectures to the general topic: "Creative Capitulations – an Approach to Human Thought." All will be presented in the main lounge of the Seminary's Campus Center, beginning Monday at 7 p.m. and continuing through Thursday.

Dr. Van Peursen, a graduate of the universities of Leyden and Louvain and of Cambridge University, has been since 1960 Professor of Philosophy at the University of Leyden. He is the author of more than 20 major books in his field.

LECTURES PLANNED

On Glass and China. Two hundred years of American glass and historical blue transfer ware will be the subjects of two lectures to be given at the Princeton YMCA on Wednesday, April 21, and Wednesday, April 28, from 8 to 10 p.m.

William Iorio, owner of the Iorio Glass Company in Flemington, will trace in the first lecture the development of American glass making. He will cover in his illustrated lecture the making and identification of blown flint, pressed and cut glass.

The April 28th lecture will find Mrs. Marjorie Greenberg showing slides and discussing the historical blue transfer ware made in the 1820's in the Staffordshire District of England. Scenes of American cities, painted by American artists who returned to England, were transferred onto the pottery which was then exported to the new American nation. Mrs. Greenberg is Research Associate of Mercer County College and is active in a variety of historical groups in the area.

2 Princeton Residents Looking Forward to a Labor of Love: Running a Punishing 26 Miles on Monday in Boston Marathon

Monday is Marathon Day in Boston, and two Princeton men will be running the grueling 26-mile, 385-yard distance from the Village of Hopkinton to the Prudential Center in downtown Boston in the 80th anniversary of this supreme test of physical and mental endurance.

Mooday is Patriot's Day in Massachusetts, a state-wide holiday in commemoration of the Battle of Lexington. Crowds estimated at a half a million will line the route through Natick and Wellesley, offering orange sections, gulps of Gatorade and shouting encouragement to the more than 2,000 contestants.

With luck, the day will be cool and cloudy with a tailing west wind. The competitive spirit will undoubtedly be high, hopefully enabling Richard Gillespie of 8 Winant Road and Dr. Charles Clark of 50 Valley Road to equal or better their previous running times.

This will be 39-year old Dr. Clark's fifth consecutive Boston Marathon (he has also run in two others), and his time last year was 2 hours and 51 minutes. For the 45-year old Mr. Gillespie, it will be his third, and he is hoping to break through 3:30, the equivalent of running an 8-minute mile, to become a numbered runner. Last year he ran 3:45.

Instant Exercise. Dr. Clark, who as an internist believes in exercise and feels running is the quickest way to get it, will enter with 100 other physicians who are members of the American Medical Joggers Association. He confesses that he runs sporadically, but in the two months just before a marathon tries to run 6-7 miles a day on Mt. Lucas Road before dinner. Last Columbus Day he placed first in his age group in a Marathon in Atlantic City.

Mr. Gillespie began running nine years ago, after reading a compelling article on the physical benefits of running. He lost 20 pounds and dropped 35 beats from his pulse rate as he ran a mile a day for three or four years. Then his Princeton '52 classmate, Howard (Mac) Fish, Lawrenceville School chaplain, and his wife Margery urged him to enter the Boston Marathon. Mrs. Fish, who looks like a Powers model, was one of the first women to compete in the event—before women were officially sanctioned in 1967.

The three entered more or less on a lark, as Mr. Gillespie recalls it, in 1973 when the temperature rose to a sizzling 78 and the two men were carrying more weight than was desirable. It was dusk before they finished, but they felt exhilerated at even having completed the course as the drop out rate was very high that year.

Runs to Kingston and Back. Thereafter, Mr. Gillespie began training in earnest. He now runs 2½ miles every morning around the Edgerstoune area before catching the commuter train. On weekends, accompanied by his Yellow Lab "Furnival," who is lean as a whippet, he runs from the Quaker Meeting House to Kingston and back along the canal tow path, a round trip of 12 miles.

To the contestants, the punishing race is a mixture of acute agony and ecstatic elation. At 19 miles, or Heartbreak Hill, according to Mr. Gillespie, everything starts to go. The Australian coach, Percy Cerutty, has said that anyone can run 20 miles but few can run a marathon. It is here that the physical race becomes a mental race, according to Joe Bolster, also Princeton '52, who ran the Boston Marathon in 1971 and has competed in nine other marathons. It is here that the encouragement of the bystanders, a factor that makes the Boston marathon so notable, becomes a key element in going that last six or seven miles.

In addition to daily running, Mr. Gillespie and Dr. Clark also practice what is known as "carbohydrate loading," a method of eating no carbohydrates at all on the sixth, fifth and fourth days before a race and then eating only carbohydrates the final three days. Mr. Bolster's son, Joe Jr., himself a marathoner, has described the diet as a "shot in the arm" for those last few miles when the blood sugar and will power are depleted and acute mental fatigue sets in.

For Mr. Gillespie, running has become a way of life. He loves to talk about it and to proselytise other people into doing it. His reasons are partly for health and physical well-being, the good feeling he has when he has completed a race; and partly for relaxation, to rid himself of stress and strain.

He says Lake Carnegie in almost any weather is beautiful, and running next to it gives him the feeling of being off in countryside as remote as Vermont. And finally there is the discipline aspect of running. "You go through all this to achieve a certain goal," he says.

MARATHON RUNNER: Richard Gillespie jogs along the canal tow path to train for the Boston Marathon Monday.

Demanding Training. Mr. Bolster will not be running in the Boston Marathon this year. "I am in good track shape but not in marathon shape," he says, adding that marathon running, for which one should run a third of the distance on a daily basis, has become too time-consuming for him. Margery and Mac Fish are in England for the semester on an exchange fellowship.

Tuesday after the race, feeling sore all over, Dr. Clark will return to his medical office here to listen to patients complaining of their aches. Mr. Gillespie will attend his first meeting as a newly-appointed vice-president and director of Reed and Barton, makers of fine silverware, in Taunton, Mass. When he and his family make the move to the Boston area later this year he will have to look for as nice a place to run as the canal tow path, but he will have the consolation of not having to make such a long drive home after next year's Boston Marathon.

How the Marathon Got Its Name

In 490 BC, the Greek runner Phaedippides ran the 26-mile distance from Marathon to Athens with the news of the defeat of the Persians on the Plain of Marathon, collapsed on arrival and died of heart failure. No such calamity has yet befallen the modern-day runner who covers the same grueling distance (comparable to running from Nassau Hall to Hightstown and back) for his own individual sense of accomplishment.

There are 150 marathons in this country alone, and more in Canada and abroad, in which runners from 5 to 85 compete. To enter the Boston Marathon a runner must be 19, and to be accorded an official number, an entrant must submit a medical statement and a certificate of having run a marathon in 3 hours or less in the preceding year. For masters (men over 40) and for women, the time is 3½ hours or less.

Last year 2,014 numbered runners competed in the Boston Marathon, along with several hundred unofficial entrants. Will Rogers, a Boston College graduate student, won the race in a record breaking 2:09:55, the equivalent of running a mile in 4 minutes, 50 seconds, and maintaining that pace for 26 miles.

106 TREES PLANTED

To Mark Arbor Day. The fifth annual Arbor Day program in West Windsor on Saturday, highlighted by an address by Sel Tinsley, former Environmental Commissioner for the Northeast United States, who spoke on the trees in New Jersey in 1776, resulted in 106 trees being planted throughout the township.

The major tree plantings took place on Hendrickson Drive near the tennis courts. Trees planted included 22 holly, 12 Euonymus, 5 white pine, 9 dogwood, 5 rhododendron, 4 viburnum, 4 juniper, 4 flowering cherry, 3 crabapple, 3 birch and one pussy willow. They were planted according to a landscape master plan designed by John Obal of Obal's Garden Market on Alexander Road and the varieties were selected to provide beauty for the area, attract wild life including birds and require as little care as possible.

The West Windsor Recreation and Environmental Commissions have announced the winners of the 30 Serbian spruce trees donated by Willard Wrights' Nursery on Conover Road at the Arbor Day program. The winners were: James Cahill, Amanda Di Polvere, Don Haws, George Levin, Carl Schielke, Grace Singer, Frank Wendt, Robert Zochowski and Robert Zuckerberg. Also winning spruce trees were Jackie Bigham, Dorothy Beard, Sean Brakel, Vicki Burd, Mason Cooke, Karl Fitzke, Daniel Krittman, Ann Love, Vikram Rao, Scott Ridings, Phil Sutton, Howie Sobelman, Mrs. Vandegrift, John Vail, and Karen Yoder.

The spruce trees were won during a drawing directly following the Arbor Day program. Entries for the drawing were free and all the winners had to be present unless they donated a tree to the Arbor Day program.

IT'S NEW To Us

VERSATILITY THE KEY

At Viking Furniture. Contemporary furniture with its well-designed lines has often been noted for its versatility. Not only does it wear well to the eye over the years, but many pieces can actually be used for multi purposes, creating great flexibility throughout many moves or redecorating schemes.

Although some of these pieces, such as the flip-top desk, Avanti wall system and Tower package are not new at Viking Furniture, they continue to be interesting.

The desk, for instance, which is made of oak and teak has four drawers in the front and a back ledge with spaces for letters, file bins and storage.

This ledge easily flips over to lie flat with the desk top, thus creating an even larger area that is perfect for a work space or even a dining table, $399.95.

In this day of extensive indoor gardening the Tower package is a natural. Composed of single and double cylinders with caps and lids that can be arranged in numerous ways to form a visual wall divider of staggered heights, the tops are perfect for displaying plants and an effective way to create a garden in any room. It comes in white plastic and the package of 22 pieces costs $168.

The group of Avanti wall furniture has been here for some time, but according to Viking's owner Marty Bratman, "It has very much come into its own." This is a wall system that you design yourself starting with an empty rectangular piece in one of three heights – low, medium or high.

From here you can add shelves, cabinets which can have glass, solid, polished chrome or cane door fronts, or drawers. In addition there is a record holder, a bar unit and a desk section that can be equipped with a pull-out letter file. There are other features too such as lights, a table section, mirror and a corner filler.

When all this is added to the fact that the pieces are available in five different colors and wood finishes, the extreme adaptability of this system is obvious regardless of whether you are thinking of a bedroom, kitchen or living room.

AT VIKING FURNITURE: Composed of several units, this seating group can be arranged in numerous ways, and even accommodates a sleep sofa or end tables with built-in planters. This and everything else at Viking is being offered at a 20% savings through Saturday, April 24 with the coupon on Page 7B.

New here is a pit-seating arrangement that most unusually can incorporate a queen-sized sleep sofa. The group which includes an ottoman, armless chair and a loveseat also contains square upholstered end tables with built in chrome-lined planter boxes and compartments for stereo components. Upholstered in a cream and grey flame-stitch Herculon fabric, you can select whichever pieces fit your room and quickly create a custom seating arrangement, from $98 to $510.

Viking has another new sectional group and this one has a large choice of fabrics. Made by Domani of Italy the high-back chairs and sofas have a European flavor to them. They are soft, deep and plush, with a tendency to swallow you up – just the kind of furniture men love, as they can really stretch out.

The frames are built in Europe, but the actual upholstering is done here so you will not be waiting forever. A standard sofa costs about $650 depending upon the fabric, but there are also love seats, chairs, corner rounds and ottomans so with this group too, you can create any arrangement you want.

Possibly the most magnificent piece in the store is the Dunbar desk with a rosewood top set on a stainless steel base. When set in a room, the highly polished steel reflects the carpeting and the desk appears to be floating. It has slim narrow drawers across the front and is truly lovely.

Other choices include an olive ash burl parquet dining table for those who like a very modern look, and there is a companion piece of three cabinets that can serve as a console or hang on the wall above a buffet; a Howard Miller clock with lovely chimes set in a chrome and smoked glass case that allows you to view all the movements; or an octagonal glass coffee table set on a sculptured chrome base.

You'll also find here many old favorites such as a platform bed with attached cantilevered night-tables; butcher block tables in maple or oak; and metal wall sculptures from Artisan House of ships, sidewalk cafes and even a tennis game.

Located at 259 Nassau Street, Viking Furniture is open Monday through Saturday from 9:30 until 5:30 with Wednesday evening hours until 9.

COOL COTTON DRESSES

For Warmer Weather. Despite winter's final (we hope) chilly blast this past week, warmer days are ahead. No one is more aware of this than Joseph Amari, because each year the heat is quickly followed by women searching for cool cotton dresses, and he needs to be ready.

Like many natural fabrics, cotton is hard to find, but buyer Mary Ecroyd told us she has "beaten the bushes in New York and come up with a great selection this year." Several pieces have already arrived and the overall look is most fashionable.

Many of these have a natural look because of the off-white, homespun-type cotton fabric. One especially pretty dress in this fabric has a buttoned bodice, a full skirt with a wide tie to wrap around your waist, and butterfly sleeves which are extremely becoming as they cover the upper arm, but are still cool. The total effect is gently oriental, particularly as the fabric is printed with several muted coral-red birds in flight, $45.

Also attractive, and quite versatile, is a pantsuit by Schrader Sport in a solid homespun fabric. Although this one is a polyester and cotton blend, the fabric is porous and should be comfortable. Topping the pants is a v-necked tunic with a tie for the waist and an extended shoulder which like the above is quite flattering and can be worn by women who generally avoid sleeveless tops because they have broad shoulders, $56.

The banding detail around the v-neckline makes the suit interesting alone, or it can be worn with a companion long-sleeved blouse, in a natural fabric printed with the softest imaginable multi-colored garden print that includes flowers, birds and even insects, $25. Then completing this group is a long wrapped skirt in the same homespun fabric, $38.

Other dresses include a striking dark blue denim flared dress with a zipper front opening that leaves a short slit at the neckline. It has a scarf, a tie for the waist and long loosely cuffed sleeves, and everything is printed with a tri-color chevron stripe of red, blue and yellow, $44 by Mam'selle.

Vest Back in Fashion. Once again the vest is a fashion item, but because it is generally part of an expensive three-piece outfit, Mrs. Ecroyd selected a two-piece one instead with the thought that you could add your own blouse or blazer. The flared skirt and matching vest with narrow lapels come in a tan fabric that has a look of raw silk and is sure to blend with most any color, $50.

Then, the other very important fashion note this year is the jumpsuit, and these range from tailored ones, to service station styles to sexy evening versions. At Joseph Amari's we saw a zip-front navy Polyester one with cuffed sleeves, an open neck, a belt and several patch pockets – definitely an item we could

ENGAGEMENTS

Fields-Abram. Sally A. Fields, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Leon Fields of Middletown to Philip Abram of One Mile Road, Cranbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Abram of Swampscott, Mass. A May wedding is planned.

Miss Fields received an A.B. degree in statistics in 1973 from Princeton University. She is currently a third year student at Villanova University School of Law, expecting to graduate in June and to take her New Jersey Bar Examination in July.

Mr. Abram graduated from Princeton with an A.B. degree in mathematics in 1973. He is currently studying for an M.S.E. degree in industrial engineering and operations research from Rutgers University while working full time as a Systems Analyst at ECON, Inc. of Princeton.

Armstrong-Kehoe. Ellis F. Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bruce Armstrong of 221 Dodds Lane, to Wilson H. Kehoe, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Bradley S. Kehoe of Princeton - Lawrenceville Road. A June wedding is planned.

Miss Armstrong is a graduate of Stuart Country Day School, Bradford Junior College and Tufts University with a B.S. in Occupational Therapy and a master's degree in education. She is presently working at the Matheny School for cerebral palsy children in Peapack.

Her fiance is a graduate of the Hun School and Northeastern University with a B.S. in business administration. He is regional office manager of Marcona Ocean Industries, Keasbey, a division of Marcona Sales, Inc.

McCredie-Perone. Debbie McCredie, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert McCredie of 3 Fieldston Road, to Paul A. Perone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix A. Perone of 134 Jefferson Road. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss McCredie is a graduate of Franklin High School and attended Trenton State College. She is now studying at the Bryman School in East Brunswick. Her fiance, a Princeton High School alumnus, attended the University of Tampa, Fla.

Greschak-Glover. Joanne Greschak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael C. Greschak of 547 Village Road West, Princeton Junction, to Richard E. Glover, son of Mrs. Helen Glover of 22 Robert Road and Bernard Glover of Varsity Avenue, Penns Neck. An October 2 wedding is planned.

The couple are both graduates of Princeton High School. Miss Greschak received a B.A. in psychology from Marietta College. Her fiance received his degree in elementary education from the University of Bridgeport. Both are presently employed by the Lawrence Township Board of Education.

Witt-Lamb. Anne L. Witt of New York City, daughter of Mrs. Georgia S. Witt of Faculty Road and W. Wallace Witt of Baltimore, Md., to Dr. Robert A. Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Gordon Lamb of Beaconsfield, Bucks., England. An October wedding is planned.

Miss Witt is a graduate of Goucher College and participated in the 1972-73 Sweet Briar Junior Year in France program. She is associated with the Center for Prevention of Premature Arteriosclerosis, Rockefeller University in New York City. Dr. Lamb is a graduate of the University of Birmingham, England, and received his Ph.D. from the University of Cambridge. He is a Research Associate in virology at Rockefeller University.

WEDDINGS

Brown-Tash. Karen L. Tash, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Tash of Old Orchard Road, Lawrenceville, to Daniel A. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Brown of Pittsburgh; April 10 in the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dana A. Fearon officiating.

The bride is a graduate of Lawrence High School and works for Firmenich, Inc. in Plainsboro. Mr. Brown graduated from Rider College and is employed by Woolco Department Stores. They will live in Cranbury.

imagine wearing comfortably for some time, $65.

Skirts continue to gain in favor and Mrs. Ecroyd says, "This is the prettiest bunch I've seen. They are neat and becoming and not too long, about 25 inches." However, if you think in other terms, this means just below the knee.

The selection includes a dusty rose button-front flared skirt in a natural heavy calcutta cloth; a wrapped cotton in a brown and white Batik print; a white flared skirt in a polyester and rayon with two v-shaped welts across the front for interest; and a darling dirndl with a dropped waistline in black cotton covered with a miniature floral garden print, $16 to $28.

To wear with these, or with the slacks, is a selection of blouses in the same color tones. Particularly interesting is a cotton blend shirt by Huk-a-poo in several different plaids and stripes of blue, brown and green. Mrs. Ecroyd told us that "while these are sized for juniors, they are not at all skimpy and they are a nice bargain at only $10."

We also saw crinkle cotton shirts by Christian Dior in approximately eight colors, printed long-sleeved knit shirts and a group of t-shirts, $9 to $22.

Throughout the store we felt an emphasis on reasonable prices, while not sacrificing quality. The scarves are an example of this as $5 is the most expensive one and yet there is quite a choice – Indian bandanas, ombre ones in tones of one color, and florals with solid Italian borders. They are all cottons, which keeps the price down and is actually nicer than silk or rayon as they stay where you tie them.

There is a personal touch here not found in many larger places. Because this is also a tailoring shop, Mr. Amari knows how clothes should fit and cares that they look right. Open Monday through Saturday from 10 until 5, Joseph Amari is located at 360 Nassau Street.

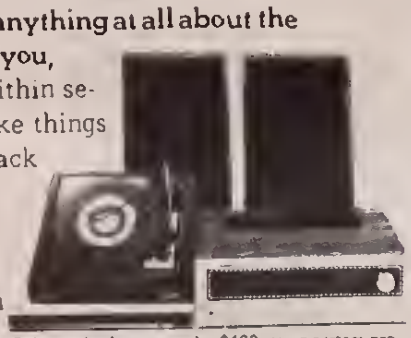
HI-FI RISK-FREE

Buying a music system at Tech Hifi is fun. Not risky.

For instance, if anything at all about the system displeases you, just bring it back within seven days. We'll make things right, or give you back your money.



Only rarely does an under $400 music system provide the commendable synthesis of power, high quality FM performance, and superbly natural response that this $385 Tech Hifi system with the all-new Nikko 2025 am/fm stereo receiver, Ohm E loudspeakers and a BSR 2260X turntable with a Shure magnetic cartridge provides.

$399

And when you buy any system or component at Tech Hifi, you don't risk the possibility of missing out on a better price somewhere else. Because you get a written guarantee that we'll pay you back the difference between our price, and any lower price you may see within thirty days of your purchase. Even if it's some other store's sale price. (Since our everyday prices are so low, this really isn't very risky for us).

Come in to Tech Hifi soon. You have nothing to lose.

In time of want, see the Red Cross, and that is just what a smooth-talker did last week.

The Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross, 182 N. Harrison Street, received a call last week from a man who identified himself as a Mr. Davall of the Princeton Medical Center. He asked to borrow a movie projector, police said, and his request was granted. The Red Cross handed over a 16mm Eastman Sound Projector valued at $600.

When the projector was not returned, the Red Cross made inquiries and learned that no one by that name was associated with the Medical Center. "Mr. Davall" was described as white, 5-10, in his late 20s with dark hair.

A FILM OF TALKS BY BUBBA FREE JOHN ON THE REAL PROCESS OF SPIRITUAL LIFE

A new film (approximately one hour in length) on Bubba Free John and his radical spiritual teachings. Edited from recent talks given to The Dawn Horse Communion, Bubba's community of devotees, LAUGHTER offers a unique statement on the possibility of God-realization in this human life. Ranging in subject matter from the suffering inherent in the usual man's life to a step-by-step description of the spiritual process, LAUGHTER conveys a humor and presence rare in any film. It is particularly valuable because Bubba leads no public life, and this film is a rare opportunity to see him teach.

10 Join to Form Investment Banking Firm Here

An international investment banking firm which has brought together 10 partners with diverse backgrounds in the U.S. and abroad has begun operation at 22 Chambers Street. William Sword of Rosedale Road, for 21 years with Morgan Stanley as a partner and later managing director, has formed William Sword and Co., Inc. as a traditional investment banking house with the basic philosophy of working with clients on a close and continuing basis.

The new firm has attracted two former State Department officials, John N. Irwin II, former Ambassador to France and Deputy Secretary of State, and William Stolzfus Jr., a career diplomat specializing in Mideastern affairs who resigned as U.S. ambassador to Kuwait. In addition, a financial vice-president of Esso Europe, Donald D. McCuaig, has come from London to join the firm. Mr. Irwin, who is a trustee of Princeton University and Lawrenceville School, as well as many other organizations and institutions, is a senior partner in Patterson, Bellknap and Webb in New York and with Mr. Sword is the principal stock-holder in the holding company of Sword, Irwin and Company, Inc. of which William Sword and Co. is a wholly-owned subsidiary.

Others who have left previous posts include C. Barnwell Straut who was president and chief executive officer of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company as well as executive vice-president and director of its holding company, Horizon Bancorps, and Phillips D. Van Dusen, who will finish out the academic year as director of development at Princeton Day School. Mr. Straut is one of the 10 managing directors in the investment banking firm. Mr. Van Dusen, along with Eliot Daley, formerly of Daly Programs and Princeton Child Development Associates, and Sarah Davies, who has been with Gallery 100, will all be working with another subsidiary company, Foundation Managers, which aims to offer advice and direction to middle-sized foundations.

According to Mr. Straut the investment banking firm plans to offer a full range of investment services including the underwriting of public offerings of securities, private placement of securities, institutional brokerage, merger and acquisition advice and financial evaluations. In addition, the firm will assist clients in real estate financing, project financing and lease financing and expects to offer these services to friends from abroad as well as in this country.

Goals Outlined. One of their first pieces of business is a $37 million total financing package for the Geisinger Medical Center in Danville, Pa. "This is the perfect issue to identify us with the kind of financing we can do well," says Mr. Sword in an article in the April issue of Fortune magazine. "There are many companies and institutions of small and medium size that cannot get the kind of advice that Morgan Stanley gives to G.M. and G.E. We're looking at a large market that needs advice and can afford to pay for it."

By Monday the firm expects to receive approval from the National Association of Security Dealers to operate in the security business and intends in time to become operative handling all forms of securities from its own trading desk.

BUSINESS
In Princeton

William H. Sword

The emphasis will be on the special situation where execution is the key.

Hoyt Ammidon Jr. and Daniel J. Conroy Jr., former vice-presidents of Morgan Stanley who are among the 10 managing directors of the company, will be in charge of this aspect of the business. Others will include John J. Hamel, formerly of Delafield, Harvey and Tabell, Charles McManus, Donald Pickering Jr. and John Cullen.

The remaining managing directors include Richard D. Nagel of California, James M. Revie of Wilkes-Barre, S. Wyman Ralph III of Richmond Va. and Joseph M. Self, another former vice president at Morgan Stanley. All have had considerable experience in corporate planning and development, and all will operate collectively as partners.

William E. Speers Jr., a former Princeton resident who was with Tabulating Card Co., here, has returned from Lancaster, Pa. where he set up the Pennsylvania Parent Assistance Authority to help parents pay for elementary and secondary non-public school education. He now is secretary and treasurer of the banking firm and of the holding company. Mrs. June Gulick is in charge of all accounting and office management.

The offices occupy the first two floors of the building on Chambers Street and include a large investment banking room for the 10 principals, a meeting room, trading room, the foundation manager's office, space for four financial analysts and a secretary pool and a large library in the basement for company statements and financial journals. There are projected plans for taking additional space on the third floor as the firm expands.

"Our intent is to be low profile," says Mr. Straut. "We don't want to blow our own horn. If we do the job right, there will be no problem of recognition."

PATENTS AWARDED

To Western Electric Researchers. Three area residents who are members of the research staff at Western Electric's Engineering Research Center on Carter Road have been awarded patents. Kon Ho Cho of 2 Greene Circle, Princeton Junction, has been grated his first patent for a method of implanting ions of dopant atoms in a semi-conductor body. He received his Ph.D. in chemistry from Princeton University and is a member of the Semi-conductor Processes group at Western Electric.

Ami Kestenbaum and Un Chul Paek, members of the Laser Studies group and Fiber optics group, respectively, have jointly been awarded a patent for an invention which relates to an optical waveguide comprising either a substrate coated with a layer of optic material or a clad optic fiber. Mr. Kestenbaum lives in East Windsor and now holds three patents. Mr. Paek lives at 8 Lake Shore Drive, West Windsor.

NEW SHOPS OPEN

In Provinceline Village. The first specialty shops are now open for business in Provinceline Village, the mall-within-a-mall at Mercer Mall, U.S. 1 at Provinceline Road in Lawrence Township.

Initial retail units to begin operation in the new Village facility are Arizona Highway, featuring American Indian jewelry; the Candy Emporium; the Connection, specializing in handcrafts; the Cream Puff, a cafe and dessert shop; London III, offering California redwood tables and clocks.

Also: Mercer Jewelers, including jewelry and clock repair on premises; the Picture Place of Princeton, with art and sculpture; Reflections VII, apparel, jewelry, and accessory imports from India, and the Voyager Travel Agency.

Provinceline Village is a fully-enclosed facility within the new Mercer Mall and is designed as a turn-of-the-century town center. Including the nine units now open, the Village will be a "community" of more than 30 individually-operated specialty shops when completed within the next month.

WINS AWARD

For Sales Performance. Stephen J. Jurnack of Belle Mead, director of sales for the Ramis division of Mathematica, Inc., has been honored by members of the computer industry for having sold more than $1 million worth of a single software (computer programming) product. Ramis also received an award for more than $5 million in sales.

The presentation was made at the annual International Computer Programs Million Dollar Awards Ceremony held in New York City.

Mr. Jurnack joined Mathematica in 1970 and had formerly been manager of computer operations for Airco-Speer Carbon Company. A graduate of Mansfield State College, he holds a M.S. in applied statistics from Rutgers University.

ARCHITECT HONORED

For Outstanding Service. Hans K. Sander, AIA, of Princeton, president of Hellmuth, Obata & Kassabaum, P.A., Architects & Planners, has been elected to the College of Fellows of the American Institute of Architects, a lifetime honor bestowed for outstanding contribution to the profession. He is the only architect from New Jersey to be elected to Fellowship this year.

Mr. Sander was a member of the New Jersey Society of Architects board of directors for seven years and has served on several AIA national committees. A graduate of Columbia College and Princeton University, he became a licensed architect in 1959 and has actively participated in AIA affairs on the local, state and national levels.

PEOPLE
In The News

Several area residents are seeking positions on Princeton varsity spring teams. Curt Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Hayes of Cherry Valley Road, and Scott Quackenbush, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.G. Quackenbush of 18 Washington Street, Rocky Hill, are members of the golf team.

Seeking positions on the women's varsity lacrosse team are Sally Blodgett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Sanford Blodgett of 10 Galbreath Drive; Katherine Burks, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Burks of 231 Russell Road; and Anne Russell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Russell of Applestone Farm, Ringoes.

John Coffee, son of Mrs. Kenneth J. Dawes Jr. of Lawrenceville, is seeking a starting position with the varsity heavyweight crew.

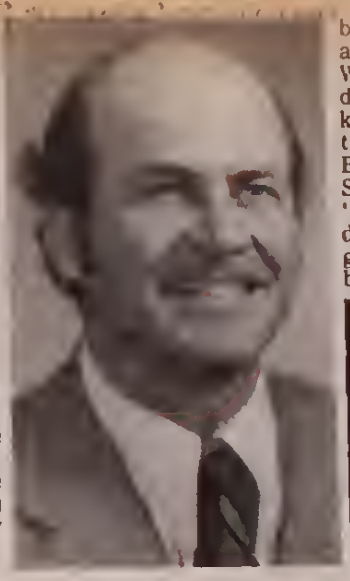
PROMOTION ANNOUNCED

For Hennessy at RCA. Promotion of George C. Hennessy of Manor Avenue to the position of Director, Marketing and Technical Information Services at RCA Laboratories has been announced by Thomas O. Stanley, Staff Vice-President.

A native of Richmond Hill, N.Y., Mr. Hennessy received his Bachelor's degree in



George C. Hennessy

Electrical Engineering from Georgia Institute of Technology in 1958 and his M.S.E.E. degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1961. During the Korean War, he was a navigator-bombardier in the U.S. Air Force.

An RCA employee since 1958, he previously worked for the RCA Defense Communications Systems Division in Camden as a Senior Sales Representative for its Advanced Communications Technology Section. Mr. Hennessy joined RCA Laboratories in 1969, as Manager, Research Marketing, and in 1973 was named Manager, Marketing, the position he held until his present promotion.

BOOK OFFER MADE

For New Savings Accounts. As a special Bicentennial keepsake, Princeton Savings and Loan Association is distributing a full-color illustrated book of paintings of great moments in American history, entitled "O Say Can You See." It is available at all of Princeton Savings offices at a special price to customers who open a new account or add to existing accounts. It is free to those who deposit $5,000 or more.

"O Say Can You See" is a 188-page chronicle of the nation's history as told by the great artists of the times. Among the more famous artists represented are N.C. Wyeth, Winslow Homer, Frederic Remington and Samuel B. Morse. Events from the landing of Columbus through the United States lunar landing are illustrated and identified. Descriptions of the historical events inspiring the paintings, as well as biographies of the artists, are included.

Princeton Savings President, William Boozer explained that "The book was selected over other Bicentennial merchandise to be offered as a premium item because of its inherent quality and non-commercial nature. We wanted to give our depositors something worth keeping, a suitable tribute to the nation's progress." Mr. Boozer said that Princeton Savings, whose slogan is "where people make the difference", has always geared its gifts and services to be of real value to customers.

Princeton Area Churches List Holy Week Services

Churches throughout the Princeton area have scheduled special services for Maundy Thursday, Good Friday and Easter Sunday in observance of the culmination of Holy Week, the anniversary of the first Lord's Supper, the Crucifixion of Christ and the Resurrection.

St. Paul's Catholic Church, 214 Nassau Street, will commemorate the institution of the Holy Eucharist at the Last Supper by a Mass Thursday at 12:10; a Concelebrated Mass and Procession at 8; and Exposition of the Holy Eucharist until 10, with confessions from 4 to 5 and after the 8 p.m. Mass. On Good Friday there will be Commemoration of the Lord's Passion at 3 and 7:30, with confessions after each service.

On Holy Saturday confessions will be heard from 4 to 5, and there will be Mass and Vigil Service at 8. On Easter Sunday the regular Masses will be celebrated at 7, 8, 10, 11:30 and 5.

At the Princeton University Chapel, the Maundy Thursday service, "a ceremony of the Upper Room," will be held at 8. Good Friday services will be held at 12:30, on the theme "The Crucifixion" with Assistant Dean Richard N. Chrisman preaching, and at 8 with a series of readings and an address by Dean Ernest Gordon on the subject, "The Cross in the Everyday."

Easter morning services will include a service of Holy Communion at 8 and the regular service at 11. Dean Gordon will be in charge of both these services and will preach at the 11 a.m. service. A coffee hour will follow in Murray Dodge Hall.

At Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane and Houghton Road, there will be a Maundy Thursday observance of the Lord's Supper and Tenebrae at 7:30. On Good Friday the Ira Spaulding Chorale will sing DuBois' "Seven Last Words" at an 8 p.m. service. On Easter Sunday worship and celebration of the resurrection will take place at 10 a.m. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer is pastor.

The Kingston Presbyterian Church in Kingston will hold a celebration of the Lord's Supper on Maundy Thursday at 8 in the Assembly Room. This will be a candlelit service, at tables, of familiar hymns and scripture.

On Easter Sunday morning, the church will hold an Easter Happening for the whole family during the 9:30 a.m. church school hour. The out-of-doors program will be followed by brunch. Morning worship in the sanctuary will be at 11, when the adult and junior choirs will present special Easter choral offerings.

News Of The CHURCHES

Good Friday's traditional three-hour service will be held at Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street, from noon to 3. Offered as a community service, this year's service has been planned with All Saints' Church and Princeton Theological Seminary, and the preachers will be the Rev. A. Orley Swartzentruber, rector of All Saints' Church, and the Rev. Jack Cooper, director of the Center of Continuing Education at the Seminary.

The service will include portions of ancient and modern Holy Week liturgies, including The Way of The Cross, The Sung Litany in Procession, The Dialogue reading of the Passion and the Service of Ante-Communion. Anthems will be sung by the choirs of the three participating institutions, and traditional Holy Week hymns will also be sung. The service has been planned so that the congregation may attend half hour or one hour segments, and all are invited.

Easter Services at Trinity will begin with the Easter Eve Vigil on Saturday at 8 p.m., which will include baptism and the first Eucharist of Easter. Easter Day will include Festival Eucharists at 7, 9 and 11:15 a.m. The Rt. Rev. G.P. Mellick Belshaw, Suffragen Bishop of the Diocese of New Jersey, will be the celebrant at the 11:15 Eucharist.

Trinity clergy, The Rev. James R. Whittemore, the Rev. Cotton Fite and The Rev. Daphne Hawkes will participate in all services, and the Trinity Choirs will sing with organ and brass accompaniment.

At Nassau Presbyterian, Dr. Wallace Alston, senior minister, will preach at a noon Lenten Service in the Sanctuary of the Palmer Square Church on Maundy Thursday. Leslie M. Kolbjornsen, assistant, will preach on "Discerning the Body" at an 8 p.m. service that evening.

Dr. Alston will preach at two Easter Sunday services, one at 9:30 and one at 11, on "Life and Immortality to Light."

The Lutheran Church of the Messiah, 407 Nassau Street, will hold a Communion Service Maundy Thursday at 7:30. On Good Friday there will be two Tenebrae services, one at 12:30 p.m. with Sunday School participation, and one at 7:30 for adults. This dramatic service joins responsive readings of penitential psalms with the gradual darkening of the church as candles are extinguished one by one.

On Easter Sunday there will be three services, an Easter Dawn service at 6 with Communion; a 9:30 service with Sunday School participation; and a second Communion service at 11 in which the choir will sing J.S. Bach's Cantata No. 4, "Christ Lay in Death's Dark Prison." The soloists will be Victoria Pehta, soprano; Susan Farrar, alto; John Carter, tenor; and Holly Moyer, bass; accompanied by instrumentalists Victoria Pehta, violin; Tanea Willoughby, second violin and Elaine Banks, cello. Breakfast will be served in the lower church at 7:30.

At the United Methodist Church, Nassau Street and Vandeventer Avenue, there will be a traditional Maundy Thursday Upper Room Denial and Communion Service at 8.

Holy Communion, Maundy and Watch will be held at All Saints' Church, VanDyke Road, Thursday at 8. On Good Friday, in addition to participating in the three hour service at Trinity Church, there will be a Veneration of the Cross at 8. Easter Vigil will be held at 10 p.m. (a time change) and on Easter Sunday, there will be no 7:30 a.m. service but the regular Sunday service schedule will be followed at 9 and 11.

The First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck, 154 South Mill Road in Princeton Junction, will hold a Holy Communion Service Maundy Thursday at 8. On Easter Sunday at 6:30 a.m. Sunrise Service will be led by the Senior Highs behind the Christian Education building. Easter Morning Worship will be held at 9:30 and 11. James S. Weaver is the minister.

The Blawenburg Reformed Church will hold an Easter Sunrise Service at 6 on the hill at the junction of Grandview Road and Fairview Road in Montgomery Township. In case of rain the service will be held in the church on Route 518.

"The Good Time Singers," a group of young people from Fergus Falls, Minn., will perform with singing and playing of instruments at a special Easter Sunday evening service at 7:30 at the Bunker Hill Lutheran Church of Griggstown.

OBITUARIES

Dr. Robert E. Danielson

Dr. Robert E. Danielson, 44, professor of astrophysical sciences at Princeton University, died April 9 at the Princeton Medical Center after a brief illness.

Dr. Danielson, who played an active role in the organization of space astronomy in this country, performed numerous observational and theoretical studies in the fields of planetary and solar physics. His contributions to Princeton's Stratoscope I and II programs, involving observations of the sun, planets and stars with a balloon-launched telescope in the stratosphere, led to important discoveries regarding the structure of sunspots, the infrared properties of the moon, and the composition and structure of the atmospheres of the outer planets. In addition, he made major contributions to the theoretical understanding of these topics.

Dr. Danielson received his B.Sc. degree in 1953, his M.S. in 1955, and his Ph.D. in cosmic ray physics in 1958, all from the University of Minnesota. He was a lecturer and research associate at Minnesota during 1957-58.

He joined Princeton University in 1958 as a research associate, a rank he held until 1962 when he was promoted to assistant professor. He was appointed associate professor in 1965, and professor in 1968.

Prof. Danielson is survived by his wife, the former Lenore H. Blake, deputy clerk of Princeton Township; four daughters, Deanna, 17, Debra, 16, Susan, 13, and Sandra, 10; and two sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Lien of Grand Rapids, Minn., and Mrs. Audrey Azarbal of Suitland, Md.

A memorial service will be held on Thursday at 4 at the Unitarian Church. Interment will be private. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society.

The Reverend Dr. Samuel W. Blizzard Jr., 61, of 78 Shady Brook Lane, died April 6 in the Merwick unit of the Medical Center at Princeton, of pneumonia.

Before medical problems caused his early retirement last July, Dr. Blizzard for several years had held the Maxwell M. Upson Chair in Christianity and Society at Princeton Seminary, where he had also served as director of student studies, dean of instruction and chairman of the Department of Historical Studies.

A graduate of Maryville College, he earned his theological degrees at Princeton Seminary and held degrees also from the Hartford Seminary Foundation and Cornell University. An ordained minister in the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., he was pastor of churches in New Jersey and Maryland before accepting posts in the sociology departments of the College of Wooster, Pennsylvania State University and Union Theological Seminary.

From 1953 to 1960 he was director of training for the Ministry Project of the Russell Sage Foundation; in 1957-58, director of the Clergy Research Project of the National Council of Churches. He joined the Princeton Seminary faculty in 1957.

Dr. Blizzard is survived by his wife, the former Harriet Barber; a daughter, Mrs. Ira Gorman, of Middletown, Connecticut; a son, James M. Blizzard, of Syracuse, New York; his mother, Mrs. W. O. Tinley, of Tallahassee, Florida; a sister, Mrs. George Thurston, of Tallahassee, Florida; a brother, J. Robert Blizzard, of Arlington Heights, Illinois; a step-brother, John Tinley of Swarthmore, Pennsylvania; and five grandchildren.

A memorial service was held in Miller Chapel, Princeton Theological Seminary. Contributions may be made to the Memorial Book Fund of the Robert E. Speer Library, Princeton Seminary.

Vincent L. Ross Sr., 73, of 12 Pelham Street, died April 12 at Princeton Medical Center. A lifelong Princeton resident, he retired from Henry R. Fell and Co. in Trenton in 1969 after 25 years as a sheet metal worker.

Mr. Ross continued as an active member of Hook and Ladder Fire Co. and would have received his 50 year pin in ceremonies this June. He was a past lieutenant in the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad and a charter member of Twin W First Aid and Rescue Squad in West Windsor.

He is survived by a son, Vincent L. Ross Jr. of Skillman, and a daughter, Mrs. Betty J. Buchanan of Hamilton Township; five brothers, Gene of Lawrenceville, John, Gilbert and Frank all of Trenton and Albert of Lavallette; four sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Perpetua of Princeton and Mrs. Mary Scopa, Miss Josephine Ross and Miss Helen Ross, all of Trenton; seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The service will be held Friday at 2 at the Mather Funeral Home, the Rev. Leo A. Forsburgh Jr. of Christ Presbyterian Church in Hamilton Township officiating. Interment will be in Princeton Cemetery. Those wishing to make contributions may make donations to the Leukemia Foundation.

Mrs. Helen Stout Snook, 77, of Milton, Mass. died April 13 in Boston State Hospital in Dorchester, Mass. Born in Pittsburgh, she lived in Princeton from 1912 to 1971, when she moved to Milton to live with her daughter.

Mrs. Snook was a retired grammar school teacher who taught grades one, two and three in one room in the Penns Neck School. She was a member of the Princeton Chapter of the Order Of Eastern Star 91 and the United Methodist Church. She was a former member of the Girl Scout and the Red Cross Councils.

Wife of the late Edward B. Snook, she is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Joan S.

An Angry Teacher Writes.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am tired and I am angry. And I think I'll put in my two cents' worth about the food-throwing episode in the high school cafeteria, fifth period, April 8, before it is poorly reported in the newspapers or gossiped about in the town without substance.

Standing in the cafeteria line engaged with a foreign guest, I was, to my horror, confronted with the following scene. Beginning at one table, and immediately escalating to involve a large number of students, food was tossed about like snow balls. The entire incident lasted no more than, I would say, two minutes.

It doesn't take long to toss a milk carton or a piece of chocolate cake across a room. Try it in your own kitchen! You'll see.

Ending of its own accord as quickly as it had begun, the episode left a badly littered cafeteria in its wake. But no mind, we have several fine black folks who cleaned up the tables and the floor before you could say "Tote that tray."

Food-throwing is a course we do not teach at the high school for all the criticism of our "low quality, high budget education." As a parent of three white middle-class children, and stepmother of two, I would suggest that it is a study which begins at the pre-school level. It takes a long time and subtlety and small seminars entitled "Indulge the child" and "What do you mean you got a C when you deserve an A?" and, finally, "I got mine, Harry, how are you doing?"

The teachers are more than willing to stand up and be counted for all their faults. However, most of our Johnnies do read and we are working hard, all of us, to see that they learn to write or write better. Is it then in the minds of the parents to have us also teach the young how to eat with even the slightest degree of politesse? It may take more time than our salaries cover, but most of you agree that we are paid enough, Heaven knows.

On Friday, as punishment, Mr. Petrillo closed the cafeteria. And who suffered from the no-lunch edict? Not really the students who threw the food but those young people who are generally credited with lapses of discipline and who may not be able to afford lunch to eat and to throw around.

But I support the principal's decision to close the lunchroom for a day. (I have never been able to solve the problem of the innocent being punished with the guilty. We are always sorry about it.) The only thing wrong with it is that we didn't close the cafeteria for a week, since this is not the first time that this has happened this year.

And so I would like to ask all of you parents not to speak to me again about the problems of our school system. If you would like me to take your good apologies to my colleagues because you have a food-thrower, I would be more than happy to carry your message back to the school that is losing so many things right now -- the really fine quality education that began to slip this year and the losses we face in the future. But there isn't one of us on the staff who won't try to keep the sides up. And with the cooperation of the parents in the community, we may not have to duck those mashed potatoes or walk those debris-filled halls.

Princeton Is For People.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Princeton is really an exceptional town. We just had such a nice experience that I'd like to share it with your readers.

My wife parked behind Davidson's at a meter that was out of order. It wouldn't accept a coin. When she returned from shopping, her car was ticketed.

We paid the fine, but along with our money we enclosed a note saying that the meter had been out of order. Today we received our money back with a letter from the Borough Court Clerk saying that our statement had been checked and found to be true.

In this Orwellian, Kafkaish period, when most communications to government and commercial organizations are answered by preprogrammed responses, it is wonderful to get a reply from a real living person. And when most complaints are handled by some frustrating, dehumanizing computer - or computer mentality, it is exhilarating to know that Princeton still functions on the basis of people dealing with people.

It was a refreshing experience. I hope you agree.

Miss Innes was a retired school teacher in the New York City school system. She belonged to Trinity Episcopal Church and the Princeton Chapter of the DAR.

She is survived by her sister, Miss Elizabeth H. Innes of Jameshurg.

The service was held in St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Beacon, N.Y. with burial in St. Luke's Cemetery.

Mrs. Charlotte Oppler, 75, of 26 Horner Lane, died April 8 in Princeton Medical Center after a short illness. She was the wife of retired Judge Alfred C. Oppler. Born in Germany, she emigrated to this country in 1939 and lived in Princeton since 1961.

Mrs. Oppler received master of education degrees from Harvard University in 1943. She spent 14 years in Japan where her husband was a legal advisor to General Douglas MacArthur during the occupation of Japan.

She lectured in the study group of the Women's College Club and belonged to the American Association of University Women. She was a member of Trinity Episcopal Church.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a daughter, Professor Ellen Oppler, an art historian at Syracuse University.

A memorial service was scheduled to be held Wednesday, April 14, at 3 in Trinity Episcopal Church, 3 Mercer Street. Rev. E. Rugby Auer will officiate. Donations may be made to the Trinity Counseling Service or to the Trinity Hunger Fund.

NOTICE

In compliance with a ruling of the State Supreme Court, all newspapers must ascertain that employment ads do not discriminate between sexes.

For example, titles such as "Salesman," "Nurse" and "Girl Friday" should be replaced, respectively, by "Salesperson," "Nurse (M/W)" and "General Office Work M/W". TOWN TOPICS has a copy of the Division of Civil Rights booklet, "A Guide for Employers to the New Jersey Law against Discrimination," and will provide assistance in the wording of all such ads upon request. Advertisers' cooperation is sought in meeting the requirements of the law.

Firestone Wants You To Know About Real Estate

How has the recession affected the value of your home in the Princeton area?

How much money should you spend getting your home ready for sale?

What is an exclusive contract? What is an exclusive agency? What is an "open listing?"

What are the advantages and disadvantages of buying an older vs. a newer home?

Real Estate can be a very confusing subject, yet it is one in which you might have to make some decisions of major importance, both financially and with respect to the way you live. You can't afford to rely on a neighbor's advice, no matter how well-intentioned it might be. You need to put your questions in the hands of a competent professional. We know that the best way to handle your individual concerns is for us to sit down together to talk about them. But what about the prson who isn't ready to buy or sell just yet? There are still things you should know about real estate and Firestone wants to help.

In this column, which will appear at regular intervals, Jim Firestone, who came to Real Estate from a background of university teaching, will discuss real estate topics of local interest in the Princeton area.

In addition, if you have a question you feel might be of general interest to people in the area, please feel free to drop us a note. We welcome your suggestions and will answer your questions as candidly as possible.

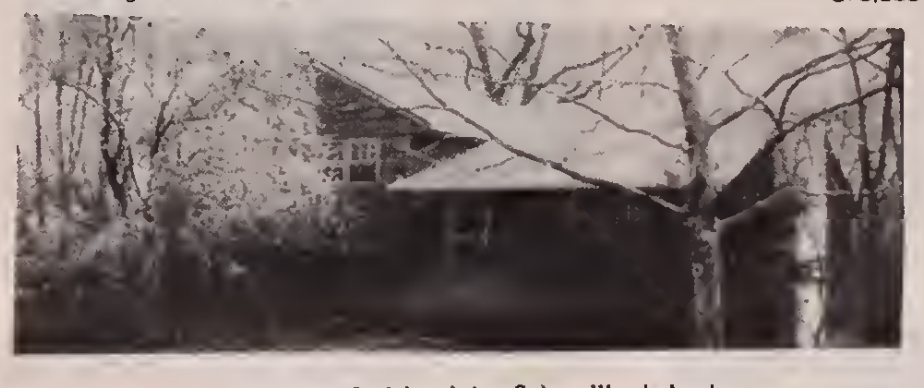
West Windsor Colonial in the Woods Near Princeton

Brand new to the market, this charming Colonial in the West Windsor Woods has much to offer: it is next to the grammer school, a commuter's delight for Philadelphia or New York, and it's a charming house in the treas convenient to Prijnceton. Slate entry foyer, formal living room and dining room, family room with a warm log-burning fireplace, well-planned eat-in kitchen with laundry nearby, and a pleasant patio in the rear for year-round entertaining. Upstairs are four comfortable bedrooms and two full baths. Downstairs is a full dry basement for recreation and spere-time hobbies, neat as a pin and tastefully decorated throughout. Available now through Firestone Real Estate for $75,000



In Princeton's Littlebrook, in a Sylvan Wonderland

Brand new to the market, this contemporary style multi-level home affords all the privacy a growing family could wish for. On the main level is a comfortable living room with fireplace, and a neatly designed kitchen (by Harry Williams, of course) which flows smoothly to the dining room. Down a few steps is a good-sized family room with access to the out-of-doors, a room which dubs quite well as guest quarters with its own full bath. Upstairs are three comfortable bedrooms and a full bath. Complete with an oversized one car garage, and a basement for workshop or what have you. In short, privacy and convenience inside, with privacy and wooded splendor outside. Be first to stroll down to see the little brook by calling Firestone. $74,900

Just up a Country Lane from Beden's Brook

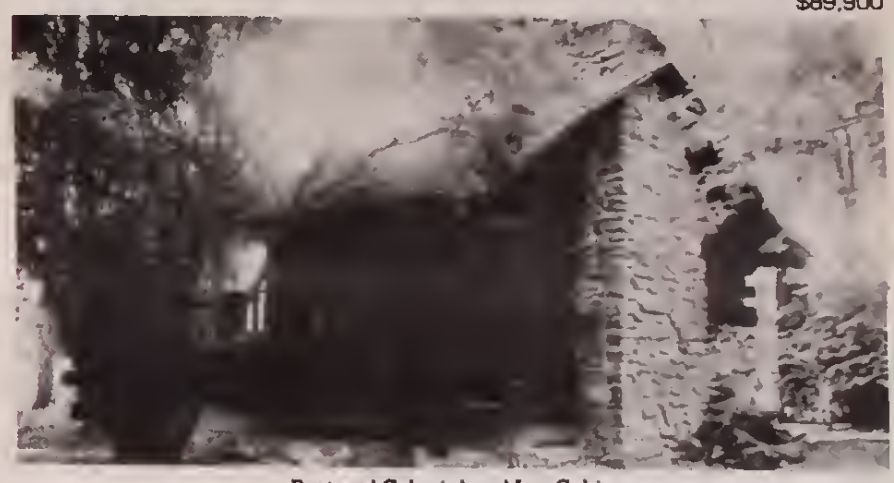
You'll find this neat country rancher situated on three acres of treed property with many specimen fruit trees, and plenty of room for a growing family. Living room, dining room, kitchen, three comfortable bedrooms, a full basement and a neat breezeway for expansion possibilities Walk to the old stone bridge over Beden's Brook and relax in the beautiful Montgomery countryside. $68,500

Contemporary Rancher Near Rocky Hill

This tastefully designed Montgomery rancher is set amid magnificent plantings all around that add to its privacy and charm. From the living room with fireplace to the dining room and master suite with cathedral ceiling, there is a definite contemporary flair for openness and simplicity There is also a neat flagstone-floored study tucked away at one end of the house, and a second and third bedroom at the other end. The view across field and mountain from the large flagstone patio in the rear of this home is reason enough to buy, but come see for yourself a different kind of contemporary ranch unlike any you've seen. Available now through Firestone Real Estate at $65,000

Extraordinary Colonial in Princeton's Riverside

This custom designed two-story colonial in Princeton's Riverside is set amid beautifully flowering dogwoods on a superb tree shaded lot convenient to public transportation. All of the ground floor rooms are extra spacious, from the immense living room with wide-angle bay window and large formal dining room to the convenient large eat-in kitchen with breakfast area, and thhe rustic, oak-beamed family room with fireplace. (There is also a laundry and small study on the ground floor level). Upstairs, there are three comfortable bedrooms and a full master suite. Downstairs, is a full dry basement for all types of hobby and recreation possibilities. Certainly, a house with character that won't last long on this spring market. $89,900



Restored Colonial and Log Cabin

This beautifully restored colonial offers nearby gracious living in a lush hills area with rustic countryside charm as well as a separate income from the unusual outbuilding on this little estate. The main residence includes such features as a stone fireplace in the living room, a completely modern, eat-in kitchen, a sizeable family room and plush wall to wall carpeting throughout. Upstairs, are three comfortable bedrooms and roughed-in space for an additional two rooms. The log cabin is a rustic dream with an old stone hearth and new kitchen facilities. In addition there are several other outbuildings. Three interesting and charming buildings on over 2 acres with good frontage, all for the price of one. "If you think this log cabin looks great, you ought to see the house that goes with it." $115,000

On a Lovely Wooded Lot Near the Montgomery Schools

This quality built cedar shake ranch is now being built on a lovely wooded lot near Montgomery High School. From its slate foyer and raised living room with picture window to its exceptional modern eat-in kitchen and family room with raised hearth, you'll find a most workable layout and a tasteful use of materials. There are three comfortable bedrooms and two full baths in all, plus a two-car garage and a full basement, and many features you wouldn't expect in this price range. We bet you can't find as much house elsewhere on a wooded lot at this price. Available now through Firestone Real Estate. $65,900

PART—TIME ADMINISTRATIVE ASST. AVAILABLE

If you had a first class administrative assistant like I do, you'd be a happy person. She was the cream of a crop of 150 candidates I was able to choose from recently. Luckily for you, she is available, as I am closing my Princeton consulting office. A more competent organizer you'll never find. Great grasp of a wide range of projects, intelligent questioner of procedures and tactics, relentless tracker of follow-ups. Very refined in dress, appearance, manner; college-educated, the works. She has been working about 25 hours a week and wants to keep to that. Needs a bit of flexibility to accommodate occasional family responsibilities, but will work 'round the clock when needed. My loss is your gain, if you have the right situation for her. Please reply with all particulars to Box E-71, Town Topics.

The Battle of Trenton was over; the city and its occupying Hessians had fallen to Washington's army. Three days before, by means of a daring plan conceived by Washington himself, Honeyman, using his cover of loyal Tory, had been captured and brought to the General's headquarters in order to deliver in secret the key intelligence which was to insure the victory.

When news of this curious episode reached Griggstown, where Honeyman's Tory leanings had long made him somewhat suspect, his neighbors became excited and indignant. So much so, that on a subsequent midnight, amid cries of "spy, traitor and cut-throat", his house was surrounded by an angry mob. Thinking that Honeyman had returned, they besieged it, demanding a thorough search and even threatening to destroy the house by fire. His terrified wife handed a letter to the leader who read it in the flickering torch light:

"To the good people of New Jersey — It is hereby ordered that the wife and children of John Honeyman of Griggstown, the notorious Tory — shall be — protected from all harm and annoyance from every quarter —

Pharmacy Footnotes
by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm

Hardening of the arteries, or arteriosclerosis, is one of the most common causes of death in our country today. This disease is caused by the formation of a hard, waxlike substance called cholesterol in the walls of the arteries. Many arteries can be hardened before the blood pressure is affected, but eventually the thick deposits of cholesterol reduces the arteries to small, inadequate channels. Since the amount of blood in the system remains the same, the strain on the heart increases. Isn't it time that we all re-evaluated our diets?

Supplement your inadequate diet with the proper vitamins and food products from FORER PHARMACY, 160 Witherspoon. It costs no more to have the best - and at Forer's we have the very best in pharmaceuticals and health aids. We're open daily from 9 to 9 and Sun. from 9 to 3. Phone 921-7287.

Charm and Convenience to Be Hallmarks of Interior Walkway Planned to Parallel Nassau Street from Chambers to Moore

Take a walk behind Nassau Street. Prettier, in some places, than the street itself– or just an ordinary back-yard-- not very pretty in other places, but still convenient and quick and, if you have imagination and a passport, you can almost believe you're in the charming, narrow back streets of some European country town.

This interior walkway has always existed – more or less -- but it's now being shaped and marked for regular use. The first segment, from Chambers Street to the archway between John Street and Palmer Square, is now under construction. It's being called "Chambers Walk," partly because it starts at Chambers Street, and partly because, if you put in an apostrophe it becomes "Chamber's" Walk, and it's the project of the Chamber of Commerce.

Originally, however, it wasn't the Chamber's baby at all. The idea was proposed five or six years ago by the Planning Board's Central Business District (CBD) Subcommittee under the leadership of William H. Walker.

In fact, some wits around town think the walkway should be called Walker Walk because, although Mr. Walker brushes aside credit for the idea, he was chairman of the committee and has promoted the concept every chance he has.

An Inland Walkway. The idea, of course, is to provide an interior walkway all the way through the CBD, from Chambers Street, across Palmer Square, Witherspoon, Tulane, Vandeventer, all the way to the end of the CBD at the corner of Moore and Nassau.

As Mr. Walker walks the route with his pencil on a map, he warns,

"No bulldozers. This plan is merely the direction the development of the CBD could take. It's illustrative of what COULD be done, as properties come on the market or change their use over a period of time."

"We see this as a 25-year development plan."

If you've crossed Chambers Street from the Pickering Building, you've seen work being done at the side of the small brick building that now houses two doctors' offices. A redwood trellis will soon mark the walkway, red oak trees are already there, and a true path will mark the way to John Street and the Palmer Square arch. The architect is E. Harvey Moore, who is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce beautification committee, and is himself a Chambers Street professional tenant.

The project in this Phase I phase is a joint effort involving the Chamber, the Borough and various private individuals. The Borough, for example, has contributed $850 toward materials and the labor of Borough Engineer George Olexa's crew – to say nothing of Mr. Olexa's own imagination. He scrounged railroad ties from somewhere and a few months ago constructed broad steps that make an easier passage down the bank of earth from Palmer Square East to the Alchemist and Barrister gate.

But we're getting too far ahead.

Meters to Be Retocated. At the Palmer Square arch, Mr. Walker points out, you walk right into a parking meter. He says Mr. Olexa will "juggle" meters so you'll be able to cross the street in the space between two parked cars.

From there, it's up the Nassau Inn steps, admiring the spring-flowering shrubs and trees, then down the far side steps to Palmer Square East, bearing slightly north to descend Mr. Olexa's little terrace.

There's a gate at the east side of this small municipal parking lot, and on the other side are a few steps leading into the Alchemist and Barrister courtyard, where diners eat outdoors in fine weather. When the restaurant remodels, as the sketch on this page shows, the walkway will be retained and glamorized.

Moral of Mercer Oak. Crossing Witherspoon, near a flowering pear-tree, you enter another municipal parking-lot. At your left, some day, will be the mural of the Mercer Oak tree, bringing light and leaf to the blank walls of a warehouse. The way through the irregularly-shaped parking lot will be shown by planters, rather like trail-markers in a woods.

"Needn't spend much money," Mr. Walker shrugs, "simply mark what's there."

At Tulane Street, the path becomes less clearly marked. To make the full interior passageway the CBD committee would like, would mean

A STROLL OFF NASSAU: You can already walk from Palmer Square East to Witherspoon alongside the Alchemist and Barrister, but plans for remodeling the restaurant call for enhancing the walk to look like this. In two years, when a new owner takes possession of the Tiger Auto building (left, in this drawing), the present Tiger frontage on Witherspoon may be turned at right angles, so that a row of small stores — perhaps within an arcade — could face north along the A. & B. walk. Sketch is by E. Harvey Myers, the Alchemist and Barrister's architect.

Before modern clocks were invented, water clocks were in wide use, as far back as 159 B.C. They consisted of glass jars with scale markings on the side. As the water ran out, time was calculated by the water left in the jar.

We cannot offer such a clock, but we do have watches that will run in a jar filled with water.

Why not come in and view our collection.

News Of The THEATRES

"FOLKIES"

Goodman, Waits. Headliners for McCarter's next pop music concert will be a pair of "folkies," Steve Goodman and Tom Waits. They'll Play McCarter this Friday at 8 p.m.

Both are singers and songwriters who first became known as writers of hit songs for other people. Goodman wrote "City of New Orleans," which was an Arlo Guthrie best-seller, and Waits wrote "Old '55," which many groups have recorded. The Eagles and Bonnie Raitt have also used "Old '55."

Goodman is also known for "The Dutchman" and for his collaboration with John Prine and Jimmy Buffett. His fourth album has just been released.

AVANT.....

This Saturday. Fifteen different filmmakers exhibiting a wide range of styles will be represented at the annual evening of Independent and Avant-Garde Cinema to be presented by McCarter this Saturday at 8.

The program of short films will include everything from the latest in animation to abstract and surrealistic films, computer art films, and documentaries. Due to the subject matter of some films, persons under 18 will not be admitted.

Participating filmmakers and the titles of their works are: Yvon Malette, "The Family That Dwelt Apart;" Ken Schneider, "Chicken Soup;" John Whitney, "Arabesque;" Julian and Claude Chagrin, "The Concert;" Anita Thacher, "Homage to Magritte;" John Knoop, "Norien Ten;" Frank Mouris, "Screen Test;" and Bruno Bozzetto, "Self Service."

Also, Fred Mogubgub, "Enter, Hamlet;" Robin Lehman, "Sea Creatures," James Herbert, "Glass;" Jordan Belson, "Cycles;" Norman Gollin, "Paint;" Lillian Schwartz, "Metamorphosis;" and Will Vinton and Bob Gardiner, "Closed Mondays."

Reserved seat tickets are available at the McCarter Box Office.

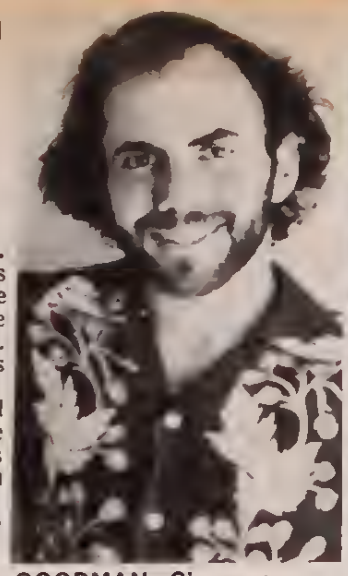
GRAHAM

Back, With Dance Company. Martha Graham's dance company will return to Princeton Monday, May 3, for an 8 p.m. performance in McCarter Theatre.

Miss Graham, whose company celebrated its 50th anniversary last year, has often been compared to Picasso and Stravinsky because of the many years she has been supreme in her art. Her influence has extended beyond dance, and her dance-dramas have been called "The greatest single body of poetic drama in the world today."

"ME AND BESSIE"

For One Performance. Linda Hopkins will journey to Princeton for a single performance of her Broadway production "Me and Bessie," to be given in McCarter Tuesday, May 11, at 8. Tickets are on sale now at the theatre.



GOODMAN: Singer-songwriter Steve Goodman will appear with Tom Waits at McCarter this Friday at 8.

In "Me and Bessie," Linda Hopkins portrays the legendary Bessie Smith, "Empress of the Blues." Miss Hopkins saw Bessie Smith perform only once-- in a nightclub she was too young to have entered legally -- and she has said that "from that moment," she has been filled with the feeling of the great blues singer-songwriter.

A former gospel singer, Linda Hopkins spent 11 years with the Southern Harp Spiritual Singers, and then went into nightclub work. "Me and Bessie" opened in New York last fall.

FARCE.....

At Intime. "The Marriage of Bette and Boo" is described as a farce -- the play, that is -- by publicists at Theatre Intime, and the director says his assignment is "The most exciting experience I've ever had in the theatre."

Audiences may decide for themselves when the play opens next Thursday at 8:30 p.m. in Murray Theatre. The night before, there will be a special premiere to benefit the Theatre Intime Equipment Fund. For $10, supporters of Intime will get a ticket and an invitation to the reception after the show. For regular performances, the ticket price is $3.50, $2.50 for students.

The author of "The Marriage of Bette and Boo" is Christopher Durang, CBS Foundation Fellow in playwriting at the Yale Repertory Theatre. His play, "Titanic," also a farce, recently opened in New York.

The script now in rehearsal at Intime is a package of 26 slices from the lives of two young married people and their families. Intime says the playwright "pokes vicious fun at the day-to-day cruelties that every family inflicts on its offspring.... the script is outlandish incisive, irreverent and thoughtful."

Mitchell Ivers is directing, Robert Davidson has provided original music and Mark Nelson is doing the set. In the cast are Winnie Holzman, Kathie Shenton, Geoff Rich and Arthur Miller.

BRECKER BROTHERS DUE

In Concert May 1. WPRB will present its Annual Spring Concert featuring the Brecker Brothers Band on Saturday, May 1, at 8 in Alexander Hall. Led by Randy Brecker on trumpet and brother Mike on tenor sax, the band blends rock and jazz.

This pair of musicians is well known to the biggest names in pop, most of whom have either performed or recorded with the Breckers. Randy and Mike have played on albums by Paul Simon, John Lennon, Bruce Springsteen, Carly Simon, and numerous others. The Breckers performed in Princeton two years ago with drummer Billy Cobham.

Tickets for the concert are $4.50 and $4, and are now on sale at the University Store. For ticket information, call 452-3655.

GARDEN

Gable and Lombard. If you have fond memories of "the King" and Carole Lombard, don't spoil them by seeing this soap-opera version. It's definitely not the real thing.

The zest, vitality and charm that made Gable and Lombard star attractions are sadly overlooked. What we have instead is a kluster account of their meeting and stormy romance that supposedly rocked the movie industry and almost ruined their careers, a pallid retelling in a kind of fan magazine prose that reduces the two stars to mere shadows. Except for opening and closing scenes, the film is one long flashback.

Jill Clayburg as Lombard spouts plenty of vulgarities but little of the real Lombard's wit; as Gable, James Brolin struggles with keeping up a macho image.

Both the real two were strong-willed but against the backdrop of a sun-soaked Hollywood, the film reduces their squabbles to the level of domestic bickering. They struggle with each other's shortcomings, with the pressures exerted by studio heads, with the sham of concealing their affair and with Brolin's difficulty in obtaining a divorce. And whenever the going gets too tough, which is often in this sudser, they head for the nearest bed like a pair of continually oversexed adolescents. Whatever chemistry existed between the real-life couple is strictly hormonal here.

In fairness to Clayburg and Brolin, probably no one could have captured the charm of the legendary duo – and with the soap opera material they are presented with it is impossible. Gable and Lombard would have heartily disapproved.

MUSIC
In Princeton

BRENDEL AT McCARTER
Pianist To Perform Monday. The renowned Austrian pianist, Alfred Brendel, will be heard again in the fourth concert of Series II of the Princeton University Concerts on Monday, at 8:30 at McCarter Theatre. Mr. Brendel will perform "Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue in D Minor" By Bach; Beethoven's "15 Variations with Fugue on a Theme from Prometheus in E Flat Major, Opus 35" and "Three Pieces from "Harmonies poetiques et religieuses" by Liszt.

Tickets at $6.95 and $5.50 are available at the McCarter Theatre Box Office, and student tickets at $2.50 may be obtained the day of the concert.

TO PREMIERE WORKS
By Music Dept. Faculty. A concert to be given in Carnegie Recital Hall in New York on Wednesday by the Da Capo Chamber Players will include first performances of two recent compositions by members of the Princeton University Music Department Faculty. Professor Paul Lansky's "Crossworks" (1975) was written for the Da Capo Chamber Players; it is therefore scored for flute, clarinet in A, violin, 'cello and piano.

Professor Claudio Spies' "Shirim Le Hathunatham" (Songs For Their Wedding) (1975), for soprano and five instruments, was composed for Bethany Beardslee and the Da Capo Chamber Players under a Fellowship-Grant of the National Endowment for the Arts. The work is a setting of three Hebrew poems by the medieval Spanish-Jewish writer Yehudah Halevi.

ENGLISH SINGERS HERE
In Trinity-All Saints Series. The Gloriana Singers, a well-known English choral group making its first American tour in company with a group of instrumentalists called the Ayre Consort, will be heard in Trinity Church on Wednesday, April 21, at 8.

New to Princeton but familiar to English audiences and BBC listeners, this small choir performs a wide repertoire of madrigals, motets and part songs, ranging from medieval times to the present.

The program will include music by Vaughan Williams and Holst as well as songs by des Pres, Purcell and Dowland. Dr. Michael Berman, musical director, will conduct, and the music-loving public is invited. There will be no admission charge.

The five members of the Ayre Consort will perform on a variety of early instruments including crumhorns, recorders, sordun, shawm, rockett and dulcian. The Consort has also given recitals throughout England and, in 1975, appeared at the Edinburgh Festival.

This program is another in the Trinity-All Saints' Series of concerts and musical services and is a replacement for the February 29 concert of the Columbus Boychoir, which was cancelled because of illness. The last two events in the regular Series will be a concert by The Collegium Musicum at All Saints' Church on April 25, and the Annual Spring Concert of the Trinity Choir of Men, Boys and Girls at Trinity Church on May 2.

MARLBORO ARTISTS SET

For Concert Here. Music-from-Marlboro will be heard in Princeton at 10 McCosh Hall on Wednesday, April 28, at 8:30 p.m., in a concert sponsored by Princeton University's Department of Music Chamber Concerts.

Five noted artists from the Marlboro Music Festival will join for an evening of chamber music representative of the concerts which draw crowds from around the country to Marlboro, Vt., each summer. Violinists, Jaime Laredo and Lucy Chapman; violists Heiichiro Ohyama and Daniel Phillips; and cellist Sharon Robinson will perform Mendelssohn's "String Quintet in A Major, Op. 18," "Duo for Violin and Cello" by Kodaly and Beethoven's "String Quintet in C Major. Op. 29."

Tickets are available at the Concert Office, Woolworth Center, Princeton University or at the door the evening of the concert.

5TH CHORAL EVENT SET

At Choir College. Westminster Choir College will present the Fifth Choral Event of its "Festival of American Music" series on Tuesday at 8 in Bristol Chapel. Admission is $3.

The concert will present music of twentieth century composers, including Vincent Persichetti, Irving Fine and Ned Rorem, honoring in particular Princeton composers Roger Sessions, Milton Babbitt, Edward Cone, Claudio Spies and Frank Lewin.

The Westminster Choir, under the direction of Joseph Flummerfelt, will perform all but the Sessions piece. The Choir has toured Europe, Africa, Russia and the Far East as an official representative of the U.S. State Department, and in 1972 became the permanent chorus in residence at the Spoleto, Italy, Festival.

Joseph Flummerfelt is director of choral activities and conductor of the Westminster Symphonic Choir, a group of 250 upperclassmen performing choral-symphonic literature with many of the professional orchestras in the East.

TO PERFORM NEW WORKS

By Princeton Composer. Judith Shatin, doctoral candidate in music at Princeton University and music critic for TOWN TOPICS, will present a free concert of her compositions on Friday, April 23, at 8 p.m. in the Woolworth Center on campus.

Some half dozen of Ms. Shatin's works will be on the program, including two that have never been performed in public before. One of these is a setting of Psalm 100 for soprano and piano, and the other is a harp solo.

Ms. Shatin holds a grant from the New Jersey State Arts Council, for the composition of a concerto for viola and chamber orchestra, and those who hold such grants are asked to do some kind of community project in return. Ms. Shatin conceived the idea of the concert as one way of fulfilling that request.

In addition, she has lectured on contemporary music to members of the Princeton High School Choir and to members of the Senior Citizens Resource Center.

Besides the works to be heard in premiere, Ms. Shatin has included in her program a duet for voice and guitar, a duet for voice and piano, and solos for flute, piano, harp and unaccompanied voice. The compositions have been performed at Juilliard, where

Judith Shatin

Ms. Shatin earned her masters degree, at the Mercer Arts Center in New York City, at a chamber concert in Falmouth, Maine, and at Brown University and Douglass College.

For the Princeton concert, performers have been drawn from the Juilliard School, the Manhattan School of Music and Princeton University's music department.

A LOOK BACK

At Tin Pan Alley. More than 35,000 members of the Society for The Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will celebrate the 200th birthday of the United States and the 38th birthday of the Society during the month of April. Some 700 chapters of the Society, including those in Canada, England and Sweden will salute America and sing "Happy Birthday" to SPEBSQSA.

The Princeton Chapter, with 51 members living in Mercer, Hunterdon and Bucks Counties, will contribute to the celebration on Saturday, April 24, at 8:15 by presenting an evening of barbershop harmony in a performance entitled "Return to Tin Pan Alley". The program will feature songs which became popular in the days when Broadway first earned the title of "The Great White Way" and which have retained their popularity to this day.

The songs will be offered by the Garden Statesmen Chorus of the Princeton Chapter and by the Sussex Counts quartet, who won second place in competition with 45 quartets from all parts of the Mid-Atlantic District of the Society. The performance will be presented at the Lawrence High School, North Campus. Tickets, at $3.50, may be ordered by calling 452-3307, during the day, or 924-1939 in the evening.

CHOIR CONCERT

By PHS and Plogry. The Princeton High School Women's Chorus and the Pingry Men's Glee Club will give a joint concert Saturday, April 24, at 8 in Alexander Hall. The concert is open to the public and is free of charge.

The combined groups will present Franz Joseph Haydn's "Mass in Time of War" with a full orchestra. James Little will conduct. The Women's Chorus, directed by William R. Trego and accompanied by Nancianne Parrella, will sing several songs, and the Pingry Glee Club under the direction of Antoine duBourg and Mr. Little, will also sing a group of songs.

CALLS TO CONTINUE

Under New Sponsorship. During the past two years, Telephone Reassurance, the program that offers a safety check by telephone, has been a successful pilot project of the Council of Community Services. On April 10 Telephone Reassurance became a supplemental service of the Princeton Community Homemaker-Health Aide Service. Both organizations are member agencies of the Princeton Area United Community Fund.

Telephone Reassurance is a free daily service for persons of all ages who live alone and who, for a variety of reasons, need a daily check on their safety. The brief calls are made by volunteers at a specified time decided upon by the person being called and the volunteer caller. Each registrant is asked to list the names of two persons who can go to the home if the phone is not answered.

In its short history, Telephone Reassurance has served 35 persons, whose names are always kept confidential. Over 25 men and women of all ages have responded to newspaper notices and volunteered to do the phoning. The network of personal concern has spread via toll-free numbers throughout such neighboring communities as Rocky Hill, Princeton, West Windsor, Hopewell and Lawrence Townships.

The change in sponsor for Telephone Reassurance does not change anything for the present registrants and callers. "We will continue with the same procedures," stresses Catherine Phillips, executive director of Homemakers. "Those on Telephone Reassurance now can be reassured that the way the service is set up now is the way it will continue for them."

Serving as a back-up for the sponsoring agency, the Princeton Chapter of the Red Cross keeps a duplicate set of registration cards. Ann Honore, executive director, says, "We've never been called upon to use the file, but it is a safeguard should there ever be a need."

The new coordinator of Telephone Reassurance is Joan Robinson, a volunteer from West Windsor, who succeeds Cindy Gordon. Persons wishing to receive the free service or to be volunteer callers may phone her at 799-1159 or the Community Homemaker-Home Health Aide Service, 924-5862.

HELPING HANDS: Cindy Gordon (left), coordinator of Telephone Reassurance for the past two years, introduces her successor, Joan Robinson, to the routines of the area-wide saftey check program. Both volunteers are West Windsor residents.

8 ARE MERIT WINNERS

Of Corporate Scholarships. Eight area high school seniors have won corporate-sponsored four-year Merit Scholarships. These awards are financed by grants to the National Merit Scholarship Corporation from 270 corporations, foundations, professional associations, unions and trusts and are worth from $1000 to $6000 or more over the undergraduate years of college.

Named from Princeton High School are Jonathan Goldstine, 175 Fairway Drive, and Steven Redfield, 80 Woodside Lane. Elizabeth R. Horton, 2 Newlin Road, who attends La Jolla, Calif., Country Day School was also named from Princeton.

Montgomery High School seniors who have been named include Albert T. and Stephen J. Galick of Township Line Road, Belle Mead; and Paul R. Myers, 41 Partridge Run Road.

Four Hopewell Valley Central High School students were listed as winners. They include Jane E. Dennison of 103 Prospect Street, Hopewell; Jane Addor of 347A Woosamonsa Road, Pennington; Arnginette Anderson, Jacobs Creek Road, Titusville; and Robert E. Weisenborn, 2 Maddock Road, also Titusville.

The sponsoring companies include Mobil Oil, RCA, Squibb, American Cyanamid, Western Electric, IBM, and Dow Jones, all organizations which have plants or operations in this area.

ISRAELI FILMS SET

By Jewish Center. In addition to the film, "The Dreamer," shown last Sunday, the Jewish Center's 1976 Israeli Film Festival will present three more programs in the coming weeks. The film "Lupo" will be shown April 25; a live performance by the actor David Masters who will present "Meet Sholom Aleichem" May 16; and the film, "I was born in Jerusalem" June 16.

For further information call Maxine Gurk, 924-3693, or Bernie Migler, 924-8031.

AGENCY ADDED

ART
In Princeton

MIXED MEDIA EXHIBIT

At McCarter Theatre. The current Princeton Art Association display of mixed media at McCarter Theatre includes a highly-diverse collection of art circling loosely around a common theme. It is the theme, "Color as an aspect of Mood," as much as the art itself that makes the present display an interesting, often stimulating, viewing experience.

The theme offers a point of departure for the viewer that generates a more thoughtful and consequently more interesting experience when studying the exhibit. In this case, the consideration of the use of color and whether one agrees with the artistic choices creates a high degree of viewer involvement.

A group of painters, printmakers and photographers were invited by the PAA to submit works which would relate to the use of color as an expressive tool. This left a great deal of choice to the artist and the resulting collection, although uneven, provides an interesting and occasionally demanding display.

If one considers the effectiveness of color use in each of the works, it creates viewer interest that functions independently of the quality of the work studied. There are profound moments where the viewer can reflect upon the absence of color and the value of tonal effects as in many of the photographs. Other reactions to color will occur when contemplating paintings and sketches rendered in high key. The viewer is particularly invited to consider how the color affects the mood of the observer as well as the mood of the painting.

EYE-CATCHING FORMAT: A series of prints by Enid Mark, constructed around jigsaw puzzle shapes in combination with other forms, is featured at Grovers Mill Graphics.

At University Art Museum. A definition of printmaking in the twentieth century could fill many volumes. The advent of new technologies and the alteration of the definition of the print has created a diversity in printmaking that is so extensive that it is often difficult to accept the fact that they all fall within a common form.

Two graphic displays at the University Art Museum illustrate some of the differences that have taken place within seven decades. A collection of Picasso Prints begins with the artist's early years. Drypoints executed in 1905 are interpretations of the artist's harlequin and circus drawings. In these and succeeding etchings and lithographs the medium is used simply to create multiples that are similar to drawings.

The small but comprehensive collection spans many years of the artist's life and style and includes prints reflecting his years as a cubist, some political statements and several works focusing on the myth of the minotaur, a frequent theme. Lithographs and a drawing reflect the artist's skill in developing sensitive line renderings of the human form. Two linocuts, one in several colors, demonstrate another graphic mode.

A collection of contemporary prints displays a radically different form of the printer's art. The prints are all highly-developed multi-color works rendered with the intricate detail and complex color that is possible because of the new graphic technologies. Mechanical devices perform many of the graphic tasks that previously were executed by the artist. Phototechniques allow the reproduction of intricate detail and multi-tonal effects that would not have been possible without the camera's aid.

Included in the display are prints by Philip Pearlstein, Robert Motherwell, Roy Lichtenstein and Red Grooms as well as many other notables in the world of contemporary graphics.

At Grovers Milt Graphics. Lithographs and silk screen prints by Enid Mark explore the graphic possibilities of a single theme. The main body of the collection focuses on the design possibilities of the jigsaw puzzle.

This includes patterns created by color examinations of oversized fragments that are reconstructed into major forms. Photographic studies in black and white are combined with color and the results are then partially fragmented into the familiar jigsaw form. Often a single theme is repeated in a range of colors.

The artist has explored her theme using various optical effects created by spatial tensions, color relationships and the added effects created by the unexpected treatment of a familiar idea.

A series of lithographs explore color using a single design. Multiple renderings of a geometric pattern employ several different color statements resulting in various effects.

News Of

Clubs and Organizations

The Senior Citizens Club in conjunction with the Recreation Department is organizing a group cruise to Bermuda. The trip is scheduled for September 18 to September 24, aboard the S.S. Statendam. The seven-day excursion includes four days docked in Bermuda, where the ship will become the hotel and restaurant.

There are optional land tours available while in Bermuda, which include a day's shopping trip, a tour of historical sites and special events, sightseeing on land and on water in a glass bottom boat, and leisure activities such as golf, fishing and ocean swimming.

The approximate cost for the trip will range from $436 to $560, according to cabin location, and it includes port tax plus the transportation to and from New York City. Any interested Princeton residents, 60 years of age and over may call the Recreation Department at 921-9480 to register.

Soroptimist International will meet Tuesday at 6:30 at Prospect House. Mrs. Ann Calhoun of Alexander Street, the recipient of the Princeton Soroptimist "Tap" Award has been announced as the winner of the district Award and is now eligible to compete for the regional award.

The semi-annual tree and shrub sale is now being held and delivery will be made on May 8 af Princeton Shopping Center. Andromeda, azaleas, rhododendron and hemlock are available at reasonable prices, as well as six to eight-foot clump birch trees.

Proceeds from the sale are used for community service projects and scholarships. For more information or to place an order, call Betty Dukro, 921-7573; Mary Reef, 924-4229; or Ruth Schenck, 799-1771.

The Keen Age Senior Citizens Club of West Windsor will hold a covered dish dinner meeting Thursday, April 22, at 6 in the First Presbyterian Church of Dutch Neck. For reservations, call Alice Caples, 799-0575; Sarah End, 799-2314; or Lucilla Tilton, 799-0462.

The Montgomery Township First Aid Squad will hold a bake sale on Good Friday, outside Shop 'n' Mart at the Montgomery Shopping Center. This year the Squad will break ground and start construction of its own building, and all help from community members in fund-raising events will be greatly appreciated. Contributions may be brought to Montgomery Shopping Center on the morning of the sale.

The Community Alternatives Group will hold its next potluck supper and meeting on Saturday from 6 - 9:30 at the Friends' First Day School, Quaker Bridge and Mercer Roads. Douglas Kelbaugh, solar architect and owner of a solar home, will speak on "Solar Energy". There will also be a discussion centering around ways of moving towards a cooperative, low-consumption lifestyle. All are welcome.

The Young Jewish Singles, ages 21-35, will meet Sunday at 8 p.m. at the Jewish Center, 435 Nassau Street. The topic for discussion will be "What Does Being Jewish Mean to You?" Admission is $2; refreshments will be served. Call 924-5493 for further information.

The Princeton Chapter of the National Association of Accountants will meet at Old Yorke Inn, Hightstown on Wednesday at 6:30. A representative of the firm of Haskins & Sells will be the speaker. At the March meeting Charles Sabino was elected president of the Chapter for the 1976-1977 year.

The annual meeting of the Princeton University League will be held on Thursday, April 22, at 10 a.m. in the Dorothy Brown Room, 171

Broadmead. After a short business meeting, Dr. Frederic Fox, Recording Secretary of the University, will present some little-known facts and lore about Princeton.

Coffee will be served after Dr. Fox's talk. Babysitting is available, but reservations should be made by calling the League office.

The MIT Club will sponsor a two session symposium Wednesday evening, April 21, at Prospect on the University campus. In Session I, Senator Clifford P. Case and Representative Millicent Fenwick will speak and answer questions on "The Role of Scientific, Technically-Trained Professionals in Shaping U.S. Science Policy" from 5:30 to 7:30.

Session II, from 9 to 10:30, will feature a panel discussion on the subject, "Why Teamsters Are Politically More Influential than Scientists." R.V. Durham, director of safety and health for the International Brotherhood of Teamsters; Professor Marvin Goldberger, chairman of the Princeton physics department; Professor Bernard Feld, MIT physics department and Dr. Robert G. Gilpin, Professor of political science at the Woodrow Wilson School, will be the panelists. Dr. Bogdan Maglich of 1245 Stuart Road and Leonard Newton, 90 Dempsey Avenue, co-founders of the club, will chair the symposium.

Reservations may be made by calling the program chairman, John Edwards, at 452-5021. MIT alumni wishing to join the club may contact Dr. Ronald Enstrom, secretary-treasurer, at 452-2700.

Parent to Parent will meet next Wednesday at 8 in the Library of Merwick, 79 Bayard Lane. The meeting will feature an open discussion for members to discuss the impact of the special child on the family.

Parent to Parent is a March of Dimes sponsored organization for parents of children with birth-oriented problems. For further information call Judy Lewis, program chairman, 695-3699.

The Delaware Valley Poets will meet for dinner Thursday, April 22, at 7:30 at the home of Col. John Andrus, 31 Alexander Street. Barbara Schwarzschild will present a program of slides and commentary illustrative of five different parts of the world.

New Jersey Designer Craftsmen will hold a general meeting open to the public Sunday, April 25, from 2-5 at Trinity Church in Rocky Hill, corner of River Road and Crescent Avenue. Slides of the 7th Biennial of Tapestry from Lausannes, Switzerland, will be shown and representatives from the American Crafts Council and the State Arts Council will be present.

For further information call Martha Wright, 924-8016.

Art in Princeton

A series of interiors with figures by Dave Orhan demonstrates the design possibilities found in the black and white representational print. Using aquatint to create rich tonal compositions he develops his subject with great skill. The prints work well as design with the subjects interestingly and competently rendered in a difficult medium.

At the Loft. A family of artists is featured in the April display. The Pezzutti family consists of father Santo, mother Gertrude and offspring Carol, Paul and Lynn McDermott. The Pezzutti product includes oils, watercolor, pastels and drawings in varying styles. A range of subject matter includes figure studies, landscape, still life and some portraits.

All the work is essentially representational with style ranging from highly literal to a more creative use of paint and form. A series of oil washes by Santo are noteworthy. Landscape and figurative works are freely rendered on a gesso surface. Dynamic line, translucent color well structured space and a painterly approach combine for outstanding interpretive painting.

CRAFTS SHOW SAT.
At Susuky Gallery. Susuky, Ltd. will present an outdoor Arts and Crafts Show and Sale, Saturday from 10 to 6 in the parking lot behind the gallery, 32 Main Street, Kingston. The rain date will be the following Saturday.

Forty artisans will be represented, creating and displaying their crafts. Included will be painting on glass, handcrafted jewelry, hand painted cards on stationery, batik, leather, terrariums, woodcuts, dried flower arrangements, and decoupage. There will be live music and free refreshments and no admission charge.

WATERCOLORS ON VIEW
In Pennington Gallery. An exhibit of watercolor paintings by Jonnylee R. Gore will be shown until the end of April at the Color Wheel, 23b West Delaware Avenue, Pennington.

Ms. Gore, a graduate in art education of Pennsylvania State University, taught art in the Hightstown area for eight years. Currently she is a member of the Woosamonsa Art Group and the Princeton Art Association.

Her subject matter falls into two categories, trees and still life. Both are approached in a limited and muted color range and deal with levels of depth.

The Color Wheel Art Supplies of Pennington is open Tuesdays through Saturdays, 9 to 5.

PORCELAIN AVAILABLE
At U-Store Display. The University Store will feature the handcrafted porcelain of David Greenbaum and Doug Graham for sale Thursday and Friday.

Although porcelain is traditionally used to create delicate ornamental pieces, these two young potters have adapted it to making sturdy, functional ware. The white clay makes an excellent background for their hand-painted designs in blue, green, and brown. The colors are suggestive of the ocean on a sunny day; not surprisingly, their studio is named Ocean Pottery and is located in Point Pleasant Beach.

David Greenbaum, who has been a potter since he was 19, was formerly in New England with the well-known Cone Ten Pottery Group, and participated in a number of shows. His partner and student, Doug Graham, will be on hand at the U-Store to answer any questions. Their display will be on the book level near the front of the store.

Sheehan Sues

Construction of part of the proposed CBD walkway -- and remodelling work on the Alchemist and Barrister restaurant -- may be delayed by a suit filed against the Borough Zoning Board by Timothy Sheehan's 146 Dundas Corporation.

Mr. Sheehan charges that the board granted the Alchemist and Barrister variances to do the remodeling "in complete contradiction" of the record and without having before it any findings of fact. He says the restaurant presented no "competent, credible evidence" of any hardship except economic hardship and did not meet the so-called "negative criteria;" that is, did not show, in Mr. Sheehan's view, that granting the variance wouldn't impair the intent and purpose of the Borough's zoning ordinance.

Mr. Sheehan has already filed a similar suit against the Zoning Board when it gave permission to the J. Robert Hillier architecture firm to build townhouses on Moore Street.

tearing down the present Johnson Electric and Verbeyst cleaning buildings, a project which is not immediate, to say the least.

Mr. Walker points out that the CBD's long-range plan includes rear driveways so that trucks can deliver merchandise to the back doors of stores without having to double-park on Nassau Street. One purpose of the Chambers-to-Moore walk is to protect pedestrians from the trucks.

Across Tulane is Lincoln Court with its shabby red-brick building sometimes defined as a dormitory because its tenants are largely single and transient. Here again, the full plan becomes very long-range indeed, because implementing it would mean removing the former bowling alley, now proposed as a restuarant.

"Not ideal, to try and go around the bowling alley," Mr. Walker thinks.

Between Lincoln Court and Vandeventer is a curious kind of mews, and few people are aware that there is a sizeable-- and lived-in--house, almost invisible from both Lincoln and Vandeventer.

Crossing Vandeventer and jogging south, you go along the Methodist Church passageway, emerging into the Park Place parking lot. From here to Moore Street, the pathway is largely a paper route. To fulfill the plan that's on the map would require acquisition of the Edmund Cook property on Nassau Street, for example.

Planters, again, might serve to mark the walkway as it goes along the rear of the Nassau Savings and Loan building to the Bellows Tree House and the rear of the Stuff 'n' Nonsense toystore, to emerge at the end of the CBD and Moore Street.

It isn't very expensive, Mr. Walker has said, but money is needed, and John Bernard has been named head of a fund-raising committee. Already he has pledges amounting to $1,500 and hopes to double that amount with contributions from individuals and business firms.

If it seems an irony that stores fronting on Nassau should contribute money to take pedestrians past their back doors and away from display windows, Mr. Walker and other CBD committee members do not see it that way.

On the contrary, the walkway's purpose is to get people in and out of the CBD on foot, open up the town, beautify the town, make Princeton more of a pedestrian community than it now is and provide some genial amenities along the way.

into membership. The Fund's Executivee Committee has approved the Association for the Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped, Mercer County Chapter, after an intensive review was made of the agency by the Fund's Eligibility and Admission's Committee and the Council of Community Services of the Princeton Area.

Richard Magee, Chairman of the Eligibility and Admission's Committee, described the A.A.M.H. as providing a service which is greatly needed and not performed by any other existing service. He added that the A.A.M.H.'s objectives are to provide comprehensive, community-based support services for mentally handicapped adults in order to enable them to lead stable and productive lives in the community. The services are non-medical and deal primarily with meeting basic human needs such as employment, housing, social relationships, money management, etc.

Located at 163 Nassau Street in Princeton, the agency has a board of directors of 17 members, composed of parents of the mentally handicapped, other individuals and lay and professional members of the Mercer County Community. Their current caseload is approaching 70 adults and the type of services for each member varied according to individual needs.

SCHEDULE LISTED

For Township Clean-Up. Clean-up Week in Princeton Township will begin on Monday, April 26, and continue through Friday, April 30. Trash, which will be collected according to election districts, must be placed at curbside by 8 a.m. and in containers no larger than one man can carry.

Branches and twigs should be tied with rope or twine (no wires) in bundles no more than 12 inches in diameter. Larger branches should be neatly stacked in short lengths. Leaves and lawn debris will be collected in plastic bags or cartons; the leaf vacuum machine will not be used.

The collection schedule is Monday, districts 1 and 4; Tuesday, districts 5, 6 and 10; Wednesday, districts 3, 9 and 12; Thursday, districts 2 and 7; and Friday, districts 7, 8 and 13.

At 4:30 each day the streets within each election district collected will be patrolled and notation will be made of streets completely cleared. Residents may call the Engineering Department at 921-7077.

RECYCLING SCHEDULE

Princeton Borough: Wednesday, April 21: NEWSPAPERS

Princeton Township: Re-cycling shed open in the northeast corner of the Shopping Center from 8 to 4:30: bundled or tied newspapers; magazines bundled separately and placed in newspaper bin, glass, clean and separated by color, cans, washed and sorted according to kind, aluminum (beer and soda) or tin (food) which should be flattened.

West Windsor Township: Re-cycling sheds behind Township Garage (Hightstown and Wallace Roads) AT ANY TIME bundled newspapers (no magazines or other paper products); glass (clean, separated by color), cans (crushed, cleaned, aluminum separate)

Montgomery Township: Second Saturday of each month (April 10) at Montgomery Township Hall, Route 206. Glass: clear or colored, separated. Newspapers (no magazines) clean and bundled or bagged. Metal: aluminum, bi-metal and tin (steel): clean, separated, cans with tops and bottoms removed and flattened.

Pennington: Second Saturday of each month behind the firehouse, Broemel Place. Same instructions as Montgomery Township above.

CEMETERY VISIT SET

By Children's History Project. The next Children's History Project meeting will be held at the Public Library on Monday at 3:30. The afternoon will include a visit to Princeton Cemetery where such outstanding Americans as Aaron Burr, Grover Cleveland, and Woodrow Wilson are buried.

Sometimes called "the Westminster Abbey of America," the cemetery is a microcosm of Princeton's history, reflecting its continuing role in American history. Children 6 to 16 are invited, and parents willing to help young historians get their ideas onto paper are welcome. For further information, call Callie Connor at 924-6885, or Anne Reeves at 921-7185.

ITEMS SOUGHT

For Fete Auction, Shops. Solicitation is now under way for the June 12 Spirited Fete Auction and Lane of Shops. Volunteers from the entire area served by the Medical Center will seek quality donations during the coming weeks.

In celebration of the Bicentennial, auction chairmen Sybil Groff and Lanny King emphasize the need for historical prints, paintings or other commemorative items made in the last 200 years which depict noteworthy events or persons. Stamps, coins and rare books would provide active bidding by a budding collector.

In addition, Theo Baxter, Janet Reiche and Debbie Stovall, auction solicitation chairmen, suggest that silver, crystal, china and furniture, old and new, are annual favorites. Other items which attract buyers and fill the Fete coffers are camping gear and tents, garden furniture, cars and boats.

All articles should be in good condition. Tax deduction slips and collection may be arranged. Call Mrs. Baxter, 924-4619; Mrs. Reiche, 921-8389; or Mrs. Stovall, 924-0906, for information.

The diversity of booths in the Lane of Shops makes a wide selection of donations possible. Since there is no Auxiliary Spring Rummage sale, items such as children's toys and equipment, used clothing, sewing notions, and seconds from the kitchen supplies can all become monetary gains for the Spirited Fete.

Jewelry of all kinds and collectables of all descriptions, pottery to prints, brass to bric-a-brac are requested. Don't know what to do with that duplicate bridge prize? Lane of Shops can sell miscellaneous small items, such as a duplicate bridge prize. Area artists might consider giving their painting, ceramics or sculpture for sale. Co-chairmen Sarene Byrne 799-0489 and Ellen Hendrickson 924-3011 await calls.

KASPAR CLOTHES SHOWN

At April Annual. The New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute April Annual Fashion Show and Luncheon on Tuesday, April 27, will feature clothes by Kaspar. A spring and summer collection will be shown.

Mr. Kaspar believes that the dress is coming into its own this spring, slimmer and straighter with more vivid colors. He is a firm believer that the American woman, while wanting clothes that have style, do not want to spend a fortune to look fashionable.

For reservation, write to Mrs. R.J. Woodrow, 17 Rosedale Road.

BUS TRIP SCHEDULED

To See Fashions By Seniors. The Mercer County Community Action Council is sponsoring a trip for County residents on Saturday, May 1, to a Spring Fashion Show at the Hollowbrook Senior Center. All the items to be shown have been made and will be modeled by men and women from Senior Citizens groups. Refreshments will be served and all is free.

Call The Senior Resource Center at 924-7108 for a reservation. The bus will be loading at the Senior Resource Center, located at the Lloyd Terrace apartments on Harrison Street, at 1:15 and at Mt. Pisgah Church, Witherspoon Street, at 1:20.

For Spring Sports Fans, Saturday Will Offer Baseball, Crew, Lacrosse, Tennis and Track

Princetonians interested in spectator sports this weekend have the widest choice of the brief season, which will be over in another month. Baseball, crew, lacrosse, tennis and track are all there for Saturday viewing.

On the University Courts, Princeton's fine tennis team will be favored to defeat Navy and to take another step toward a third consecutive Eastern Association title. The match will start at 2. Last weekend, the Tigers easily defeated Yale, 7-2, and blanked Brown, 9-0, to run their string of triumphs in association play to 37.

A Navy-Princeton doubleheader will begin at 1 on Clarke Field, with the Tigers desperately in need of shelving the shoddy play that cost them the second game of a twin bill against Brown, giving a weak Bruin nine its first victory of the season. On adjoining Finney Field at 2, Princeton will play an Ivy lacrosse game with Yale, while track fans interested in the Harvard-Princeton meet will have to go to the Lawrenceville School, where action will start at 1:30. Deterioration of the track in Palmer Stadium, which is due for reconditioning, is the reason for the switch in locale.

The varsity crew will be at Annapolis, looking for its second victory of the year after defeating Rutgers here last weekend, but a triangular regatta will be staged on Carnegie Lake starting at 3:30. Lightweight crews of Cornell, Princeton and Rutgers will take part.

BALL TEAM UPSET

Loss to Brown Is Costly. Six outs away from sweeping its first three Eastern League games, Princeton's baseball team played two wretched innings that turned a potential 2-0 shutout into a 6-2 defeat. The loss came at the hands of a seemingly inept Brown nine which had not managed a victory in six starts and a Bruin pitcher who had not been involved in a decision this spring.

The setback cost the Tigers the chance to remain one of the few teams in the league with a perfect mark, a particularly desirable achievement in view of the unprecedented difficulties encountered last weekend by both Dartmouth and Harvard. The two New England entries, almost invariably high in the running for the championship, failed to win any of the three games in which each was involved.

SPORTS In Princeton

The trouble in the Brown doubleheader Saturday began when the normally reliable Dennis Spates, Tiger shortstop, dropped a routine fly behind third base. Before the round was over, Mark Softy had not only yielded a long double and a longer triple but had wild-pitched the winning run across.

Sophomore second baseman Scott Addis also dropped an easy infield fly to add to the Tigers' sudden collapse, which continued into the seventh (and final) inning with another unearned run. The fact that a missed squeeze bunt sign had trapped a runner off third and cooled off a promising rally in the last of the fifth added to Princeton's woes.

Until then, it had been a delightful spring weekend for the Orange and Black. Yale's bogged-down Blues had lost their 18th game in 20 starts Friday afternoon on Clarke Field when senior Mike French pitched an 8-0 shutout. His brother Jeff, playing first, lined a bases-loaded double into left center to break up the game, and the Tigers added to their enjoyment of the affair with seven stolen bases, two of which produced runs.

In the opener of the Brown twin bill, sophomore Matt Gorman and junior Bob Tufts collaborated on a 6-0 shutout, all the Princeton runs scored as unearned when the losers were guilty of half a dozen errors. Doubles by Ed Kuchar and Glenn Christy paced the six-hit Princeton attack.

Softy, a distinctly capable righthander, ran into trouble earlier in the week at New Brunswick, where he was the victim of a seven-run second inning. Half a dozen Princeton errors added to the massacre, which saw Rutgers lead by 13-3 before the losers added four in the ninth to make it a 13-7 final.

A game here with Villanova this Wednesday was on the schedule, and Manhattan will be on Clarke Field Thursday at 3. Navy will be in town for a doubleheader Saturday at 1, Long Island University Monday at 3 and a return game with Rutgers is booked for next Wednesday at 3.

LACROSSE GAME HERE

Against Yale Saturday. The second Ivy game of the season is on the schedule Saturday for Princeton's lacrosse team, which will face Yale on Finney Field at 2 o'clock. The Tigers played Brown at Providence on Wednesday of this week.

The Elis, fifth in the Ivy standings a year ago, have dropped their first two games this spring to Penn and Brown, and are 5-3 overall.

SPORTS FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you By John Bernard

See if you can name the only one of today's major sports that was introduced in America by a woman ... Answer is tennis ... Tennis was unknown in the U.S. until 1874 when Mary Ewing Outerbridge returned from a vacation overseas with tennis equipment she borrowed from English army officers ... She set up the first tennis court in America on Staten Island that summer and introduced the game to Americans.

Of all major league baseball players, which one made the most errors last season? ... Answer is Milwaukee's shortstop, Robin Yount ... He made 44 ... Next most were made by Atlanta third baseman, Dwight Evans who made 36.

Here's a question you can try on the kids ... How can you throw a baseball with all your might and have it stop, and come right back to you, WITHOUT IT HITTING OR TOUCHING A WALL, OR A BAT, OR ANY OTHER KIND OF OBJECT? ... Surprisingly few people can come up with the answer ... Here it is ... A ball will stop, and come back to you, if you throw it straight up in the air!

Meadowlands Stadium Fades from View As Site of 1976 Rutgers-Princeton Game

Contrary to expectations that date back to 1974, Princeton and Rutgers will not play their football game next September in the new stadium at New Jersey Meadowlands. The 76,000-seat structure will be ready for the Giants, late of New York, by mid-October, but not on September 25, when the Tigers have their annual date with the Scarlet Knights.

That Saturday is a Jewish Holiday, the first day of Rosh Hashana, and in the belief that it might be possible to use the new stadium that weekend, suggestions had been made to Princeton that the game be held instead on Sunday, September 26, to avoid such a conflict. Both Gov. Byrne, who had wanted the game played in the Meadowlands as part of New Jersey's Bicentennial Year, and Rutgers were understood to be interested in a 24-hour postponement. Princeton, however, has stayed with the traditional Saturday date, pointing out that a conflict with NFL Sunday television could be harmful to attendance. It would also shorten the Tigers' time for preparation for the Brown game here a week later.

Ever since Rutgers returned to Princeton's schedule on a regular basis in 1954, Palmer Stadium has been the site of the games -- the sole exception coming in 1969 when the 100th anniversary of the meeting that originated intercollegiate football was observed in New Brunswick. There is, however, a strong likelihood that the Tigers will lose their home-site advantage two years from now.

The 1977 game is scheduled for Princeton, but Rutgers has the choice of location in even-numbered years. If Palmer Stadium crowds continue to run below 25,000, as they have recently, Rutgers may insist that the 1978 game be held at New Brunswick, where a top capacity of around 24,000 is feasible, or at the Meadowlands if it feels such a setting would draw a larger attendance.

Attackman Paul Sferrazza is their leading scorer.

At Annapolis Saturday, Princeton was within less than five minutes of achieving a major upset against Navy. The Orange and Black held an 8-5 lead with 10 minutes of the final quarter gone, but defensive difficulties proved its undoing as the midshipmen scored five times to nail down a 10-8 triumph.

Wick Sollers, Tom Leyden and Rich Thomas all had two goals apiece for Princeton, Charlie Jones and Greg Chaires getting the others. The defeat was Princeton's fourth against a lone triumph; the victory Navy's fourth in as many starts.

CREWS TOP RUTGERS

Tigers Win All 3 Races. A clocking of 6:14 for the 2,000-meter distance, good even in consideration of the tail wind, kept the Logg Cup in Princeton's possession for the third straight year Saturday. The Tiger varsity crew trimmed Rutgers by three-quarters of a length after leading all the way.

The Tiger junior varsity was 11 seconds -- almost three lengths -- better than the Scarlet second shell, while the freshmen won by 12 seconds. In New York, all three Princeton lightweight boats defeated Columbia by convincing margins.

Action on Lake Carnegie Saturday will feature the 'fities in a triangular regatta against Cornell and Rutgers. At 15-minute intervals beginning at 3:30, the freshman, junior varsity and varsity shells will row 2,000 meters.

The Tiger varsity will race on the Severn River Saturday morning (because of tidal conditions) against Navy. The Tigers will defend the cup they won here by a length last spring.

HUN NINE 2-1

After First Three Games. The Hun School baseball team won two of its first three games last week, edging Pingry, 2-1 in ten innings in its opener, routing Girard 11-1 and losing 2-0 to Ewing.

Hun was scheduled to play host to Friends Central this Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 in a Penn-Jersey League contest before breaking for a week. It will resume Wednesday, the 21st, at Perkiomen.

Off its first three games, Hun coach Bill McQuade reported the defense and pitching have been outstanding but the offense is sputtering. "Just a couple of guys are carrying the team – like last year – and we're striking out too much," said McQuade. Eight Hun batters fanned in the opener and 11 against Ewing.

On the other hand, McQuade pointed out that Hun threw two players out at second and two at home plate in the opener – "plays that you don't see until the end of the season."

His fast ball humming, Ewing pitcher Bill Klank struck out the first six Hun batters he faced and eight of the first nine. But in the end it was some ragged base running that hurt Hun even more.

Pete Scibetta ruined Klank's no-hit bid with a leadoff double in the fourth, but he failed to follow the ball, ran through McQuade's hold-up sign and was thrown out at the plate. It cost Hun a run as pitcher Ernie Barbiero followed with a single.

In the sixth, Bob Mendelson walked, Barbiero singled – he had two of Hun's four hits and is batting .600 – but the ball hung up in the wind and Mendelson was an easy out at third. Hun's chance for another run was gone.

Ironically, it was Barbiero, an eight-game winner last year and former Ewing student who was primed to defeat his former teammates, who opened the door for Ewing's only runs in the fourth.

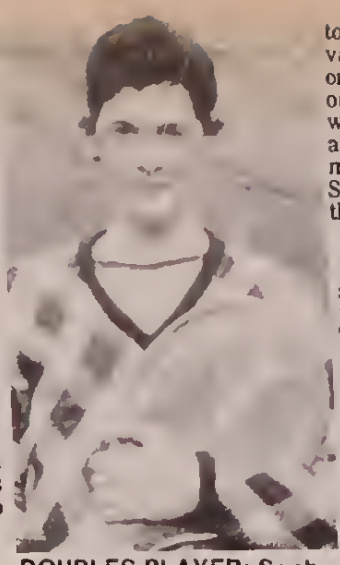
Following a walk, Barbiero fielded a bunt by Scott Shropshire and tried to nail the lead runner at second but his throw was low. An infield hit by Jack Elder loaded them up and then designated hitter Dave Cammarata singled up the middle for the only two runs of the game. "It was an exceptional game defensively," said McQuade.

Barbiero (1-1) yeilded five hits, while Hun collected four off Klank, who wound up with 11 strikeouts.

Summers, 12 Ks. Girard (0-2) was no match for Hun which pounded out 15 hits including triples by Mendelson, Barbiero and Tom Dillione for 11 runs, and an 11-1 win.

Tom Summers slammed the door on the home team, striking out 12 and pitching no-hit ball in the five innings he worked. Girard scored its only run in the sixth off reliefer Bob Kwiatoski.

In the opener with Pingry, Barbiero scored the winning run in the 10th when he singled, advanced to third on a pair of walks and then came on on a wild pitch by losing pitcher Paul Jones.



DOUBLES PLAYER: Sophomore Allen Aronovic (above) teams with Dave Bowen to form the number one doubles pairing for the PHS tennis team.

Barbiero pitched the entire game for Hun, giving up seven hits. Hun collected six, including two each by Barbiero and Mendelson. One of Mendelson's was a double.

REVENGE FOR ARONOVIC

None for PHS Net Team. Senior Dan Aronovic got his revenge but the Princeton High School tennis team failed to duplicate his effort as it dropped a 4-1 decision last week to Christian Brothers Academy.

The Little Tigers will return to the courts after a spring vacation to oppose Lawrence on Tuesday and Notre Dame on Wednesday. Both matches will be played at PHS, starting at 3:45. Last week's scheduled match with Princeton Day School will be played later in the season.

Aronovic, the number one singles player for PHS, last year had nationally-ranked Tom Cumming of Christian Brothers on the ropes. Aronovic was ahead 5-2 in the first set and was leading 40-0 in the eighth game but he was unable to get that final point. Cumming fought back to take the set 7-6 and the match with a 6-1 second set win.

"I wasn't going to let him get away this time," said Aronovic who gained his revenge with a 6-2, 6-3 win.

The rest was all CB. Peter Burrus defeated Andre Eichenberger of PHS, 6-3, 7-5, in the number two singles and Pete Henderson, a newcomer to the school who filled the only gap created by graduation on CB's state championship team last year, stopped Steve Ebersole, Princeton's number three player, 6-1, 6-3.

In doubles play, Allen Aronovic and Dave Bowen lost in straight sets to Dean Jaeger and Dana Russell, 6-2, 7-5, while Louis Snijders and Mike Loew of PHS lost, 6-4, 6-1.

THREE TEAMS TIE

In Springdale Tournament. The 1976 season opened Saturday at Springdale Golf Club with a Scramblers' Tournament which ended in a three-way tie. The foursomes whose 18-hole total was 69 (two under par) will meet in a playoff this Saturday morning.

The teams involved consisted of Bill Quackenbush, coach of the Princeton University team; Paul Schafer, Alan Poole and Paul Hurley; Eddie Donovan, Cornelius Arnett, Mike Curtin and Steve Fillo; Jack Mudge, Wendall Briethaupt, Dean Chace and John Miller.

Jack Petrone won the contest for the longest drive, a tee shot off the seventh hole that traveled an estimated 245 yards. Closest shot to the pin on the 128-yard 15th was Ross Shrader's ball, 2 feet, 4 inches away.

PANTHERS LOSE FIRST

In Baseball to Rutgers Prep. The one coach Tom DeVito wanted very much to win got away from the Princeton Day baseball team last Thursday, as it dropped its season's opener, 3-2, to Rutgers Prep.

When leadoff man John Kickling was cutdown at the plate in the last inning trying to score from second a single with the run that would have tied the game, it was the culmination of a rather frustrating day for the Panthers.

Failure to hit with men on base cost PDS, but on several occasions it was fine defensive plays by Rutgers Prep that turned those potential hits into outs. Thus, PDS was denied what DeVito had hoped for most: getting the season off to a good start for a change.

Sophomore pitcher Mike Walters pitched well enough to win most ball games, before he left with a sore arm in the fifth. Rutgers Prep got only five hits, and one of the two runs Walters allowed was unearned.

The unearned tally came in the top of the first inning on an error by shortstop John Baicher, a stolen base and a single. PDS answered with an unearned score of its own in the bottom of the first when Hickling walked, advanced to second on a infield out by Mark Blaxill, and scored when a line drive off the bat of Frank Konstantynowicz was dropped by the left fielder.

Rutgers Prep took the lead in the third on a single and a double sandwiched around a sacrifice, and added the all-important insurance run on a single, an error by Baicker and another double.

The Blue and White got one of the runs back in their half of the sixth on a double by catcher Scott Ware, followed by two infield outs by Frank Piccolella and Dave Barondess, who came in to relieve Walters.

This set the stage for the final inning, the bottom of the seventh. Hickling led off with his second hit of the game. Blaxill tried to move him along with a bunt, but popped out, so Hickling stole the base.

Up came Konstantynowicz who had hit the ball hard all day, and he lined a shot to centerfield. The Rutgers Prep centerfielder caught it on one hop and threw Hickling out at the plate by a step.

This left Konstantynowicz on second with two out. Clean-up hitter Bill Baggitt rifled another shot to short, which the shortstop managed to smother and throw Baggitt out to end the game, and a very frustrating ordeal for the Panthers.

This Wednesday, PDS was scheduled to play Blair at home, and will then be idle until a week later against Montclair, also at home.

BIG WIN, 1-RUN LOSS

For Girls Softball Team. The Princeton High School girls softball team got off to a flying start last week when it demolished West Windsor in their opener, 18-2.

"When you win by that score you think you have the world by the tail," commented Fred Carmen. Two days later in their second start Thursday against visiting St. Anthony, The Little Tigers discovered the importance of defense. They committed three errors in the final inning to allow an unearned run to cross as they suffered a 6-5 setback. Until then, the lead had seesawed.

"It wasn't all at once, it was a lot of mental errors," said Carmen. "We have a good team. But to be something special you have to concentrate on what you're doing. We just didn't have it today."

Pitcher Debbie Breithaupt (1-1) took the loss. She led PHS at the plate with two hits.

In the opener with West Windsor, freshman Judy Grisham made her first appearance at the plate a memorable one. Batting second, she lashed a drive to left center for a home run. "That ball must still be rolling," said Carmen.

Peggy Wood and Mary Pesce made things easy for winning pitcher Breithaupt by connecting for four hits apiece.

Idle until Tuesday because of the spring vacation, the girls will resume against St. Anthony's in Trenton. Will they be able to atone for that one-run loss? "I hope so," said Carmen.

PHS DOUBLE WINNER

In Lacrosse. Princeton High School won a pair of one-goal lacrosse victories last week over Pingry and Cinnaminson to raise its record to 2-1.

The Little Tigers will not resume until a 3:30 Wednesday meeting with rival Princeton Day School at the PHS football field. The Panthers defeated PHS last year, 10-4.

Princeton's 6-5 triumph over Pingry Saturday was the first for PHS in the three years Bill Cirullo has been coach and reversed a 6-5 Pingry win last year. "It was a really big win for us," said Cirullo. "In fact, the boys were elated."

Trailing 2-0, PHS stormed back to take a 4-2 lead at the half after co-captain Stuart Brown scored three of Princeton's first four. PHS fell behind again, 5-4, but tied it at 5 and then won it on a shot by Morgan Mohrman. Phil Billington had picked up the loose ball near the cage and fed Mohrman, all alone in the crease.

Jamie Lesher had two goals, Brown added an assist to his three, Morhman had one goal and two assists and Billington an assist.

"Brown was the man with the hot hand for the day," said Cirullo. "He kept us in there. This is the game he really wanted." Cirullo recalled that Brown was injured in the Pingry game as a sophomore and ended up being treated at the hospital for bruised kidneys. "He enjoyed this win – we all did."

Sloppy, But a Win. On Thursday, PHS managed to outlast a scrappy Cinnaminson team, 5-4, in a game that Cirullo described as "pretty sloppy."

Goals by Johnny Morris and Mohrman in the first two minutes gave PHS a quick 2-0 lead and Cirullo admitted "things looked good." But then Princeton's play deteriorated and it began a steady march to the penalty box.

Capitalizing on the home team's lapses, Cinnaminson took a 4-2 lead before shots by Brown and Mohrman again tied it at 4.

With a little over five minutes remaining, PHS sophomore Bobby Campbell took charge. He came down field and simply overpowered his defender to score the decisive goal. "He was not to be denied; he was really under pressure," said Cirullo.

Although he reported that his team wasn't mentally prepared, Cirullo was quick to add it was able to pull it out when it counted. He cited the play of defenseman Nate Harris and that of midfielders Chris Cahill, Steve Mapes and Campbell.

PEDDIE IS PUSHED

To Defeat PHS Stickmen. "It was a good game, a darn good game; it was a damn shame we had to lose," commented PHS coach Bill Cirullo after his lacrosse team had played a favored Peddie team almost even here Monday before bowing, 6-4.

"They were supposed to be a strong team but to be honest they weren't any stronger than we were. It was close all the way. I think we asserted ourselves as a good ball club," continued Cirullo.

The sophomore midfield line of Johnny Morris, Chris Cahill and Bob Campbell accounted for all Princeton goals, Morris scoring three for his best performance ever, and Cahill one.

PHS goalie Robert Willis played a standout game in the goal. He was credited with 12 saves and his moves even drew praise from the Peddie coach.

NORTH BRUNSWICK BOWS

To PHS Track Team. The Flippin brothers and sweeps in the pole vault and high jump were instrumental in Princeton High's 80-51 victory in track last week over visiting North Brunswick.

Veteran Royce Flippin won the two-mile easily in 9:50.7 -- his closest competitor was timed in 11:05.6 -- while his younger brother, Bob, led a PHS sweep in the mile. A freshman, young Flippin was timed in 4:57. John Riddell was second with 5:01.6.

Bob Ayling, Ron Reiman and Chris Elden were 1-2-3 in the pole vault, Ayling and Reiman both clearing 9 feet. Fred Berkelhammer (5-8), Ken Bullock (5-6) and Elden (5-2) swept the high jump. Barry Turner of PHS captured the long jump with a leap of 19-3½.

In running events, Japhet Woolston won the 880 for the second straight time, covering the half-mile in 2:06.9. Nick Piroue of PHS was second with 2:08.3.

Bullock and Tony Strong were 1-2 in the 100 yard dash, 10.4 and 10.5, while Strong won the 220 in 23.1 and Bullock came back to grab the 440 in 52.1. Capturing seconds for PHS were Reiman in the 120-yard hurdles, Eric Suber in the shot, Rich Mosely in the javelin (142-9) and Berkelhammer in the 330-yard hurdles.

North Brunswick won the mile relay by 2.3 seconds and swept the discus. It was Princeton's second dual meet victory in as many starts.

SEASON UNDER WAY

For Princeton Soccer Club. More than 280 youngsters have been organized into 19 teams as the Princeton Soccer Club began its spring season Saturday at Valley Road School at Gulick Field on the Princeton University campus. Boys and girls in the club have been divided into four leagues according to experience, ability and age.

The Cub League includes Allen's, Princeton Pizza Palace, Petrinferno's Restaurant, Callaway Real Estate, Tiger Auto and the Gallup Poll.

The Junior League has Hinkson's, Steffanelli's Amoco, Earth Shoe, Lavake Jewelers, the U. Store, and The Princeton Printing Company, while the Intermediate League is comprised of Nassau Hobby, Hulit's, Laidlaw-Coggeshall and Varsity Sport Shop.

Lahieres, Princeton Savings and Loan Association and The First National Bank are fielding the three Senior League teams this spring while New Jersey National Bank will also be a sponsor in the fall season. The senior team will play a season-long series against each other; teams in the three younger leagues will compete against each other on a rotating schedule.

STATE RECORD SET

By 11-Year Old. Princeton Aquatic Association members traveled Sunday to the second annual Odd Age Group Swim Meet at Paramus Boys Club. The meet, which drew more than 700 entries from 26 clubs statewide, is organized with odd-number ages at the top of each category rather than the usual even-number age categories.

John Healy, 11 years old, of Wilson Road, set a new meet record in the 10-11 boys' 50-yard breaststroke, with a time of 36.6 seconds. Previous record for this event was 37.4.

Laurie Long, 9 years old, of Sleepy Hollow Road, Belle Mead, took second place in the 8-9 girls' 25-yard freestyle with a time of 15.0 seconds, and sixth place in the 8-9 girls' 25-yard backstroke with an 18.5 second time.

Audrey Welber, 13 years old, of Overbrook Drive, placed sixth in the 12-13 girls' 75-yard breaststroke with a time of 58.8 seconds. Todd Heebink, 9 years old, also took sixth place in the 8-9 boys' 25-yard butterfly with a 21.7 second time. Heebink lives on Johnson Drive, Belle Mead.

The Association begins its summer season May 3 at the Community Park Pool. Head Coach is Bill Farley, men's varsity swimming coach at Princeton University. He will be assisted by Dave Garretson, women's varsity coach at Princeton; Jeff Lowe, head coach of swimming at Peddie School; and Lois Hector, who will coach the Princeton Area Swimming and Diving Association team.

PDS WINS TWICE

In Lacrosse. A veteran Princeton Day lacrosse team got off to a running start last week in its bid to capture another State B division championship. On Friday, the Panthers flattened Newton High School, 19-5, and two days earlier, whipped Edison High, 9-4.

David O'Connor led the onslaught against an inexperienced Newton squad, scoring five goals and picking up two assists. He was followed by Bill Erdman with four goals, Mark Zawadsky with three goals and three assists and Tom Moore with two goals and three assists. Jay Itzkowitz also scored for the winners.

John Healy

Scoring five goals in every period, but the last, which was mercifully shortened in an agreement between the coaches, PDS jumped to a 10-2 lead at the half. Bob Krueger, in his first year as lacrosse coach, commented that he used jayvee players and moved other players around to different positions in an effort to keep the score somewhat respectable.

Last Wednesday the Panthers got off to a slow start in their season's opener, falling behind Edison High School, 2-0, after one period of play. The offense began to click in the second period, however, and after a four-goal outburst the Blue and White never trailed again.

Peter Buck led the scoring with three goals and one assist, while single tallies were credited to Tom Moore, and Steve Judge of the first midfield, Jim Daubert, John Haraldson and Rob Olsson, second midfield and attackman Mark Zawadsky. David O'Connor picked up two assists.

Out of one net (hockey) and into another, goalie Rich Olsson made 16 saves and played an outstanding game, according to Krueger.

PDS was expected to have an easy time against Blair in a contest scheduled for this Wednesday afternoon at home, but Saturday against Clark away, the Blue and White will be in the underdog role for the first time, according to Krueger.

PHS IS 10-4 VICTIM

Opposes West Windsor Next. Princeton High School's baseball team scored its first runs of the season but it wasn't enough as visiting Hightstown raked four PHS hurlers Friday for a 10-4 victory. The loss was Princeton's second in two games.

The Little Tigers will resume after a seven-day vacation break Tuesday against West Windsor. The game will be played there starting at 4.

Princeton scored one in the first when leadoff batter John Boccanfuso reached first on an error, stole second and came home on a double by Scott Thompson. It added another in the fourth when with two out Dave Robinson walked and the Rams mangled Johnny Miller's bunt with two throwing errors allowing Robinson to score.

Jimmy LaPlaca opened the eighth with a single up the middle, Dave Seagers walked and Robinson jammed the bases with a bunt single. Two runs scored on ground outs by Miller and Keith Phox.

Phox started for PHS. The sophomore struck out four but gave up six hits, three of them in the second when Hightstown sent three runs across. Mark Ehlers stroked a three-run homer in the sixth for the Rams and Bob Spearman homered with a man aboard with two down in the final inning off reliefer Al Kandell.

Boccanfuso pitched two and two-thirds innings of relief for PHS, Alex Robertson came on in the sixth and threw one pitch to get the final out and Kandell worked the last inning. Phox took the loss.

In the fourth, Hightstown had loaded the bases on an error, walk and Spearman's single. Malloy, up next, hit a comebacker to Boccanfuso but the throw to the plate bounced out of Seager's glove, one run scoring. Mike Radics, who had singled in his two previous appearances, this time hit a bouncer to first. LaPlaca threw to Seagers for one out and the return throw got Radics for a double play.

For the second time, however, PHS failed to back up its fine defensive play with consistent hitting. It managed only four hits off Malloy, who won his first against no losses.

PHS GIRLS WIN, 14-4

In Lacrosse. Joyce Jones, who last year guided Princeton High School to a state championship in field hockey, is picking right up where she left off with the girls lacrosse team.

In its opener last week, the girls team defeated George School, 14-4. "It was a good start for us," said Miss Jones. "We still have a lot of things to talk over but considering it was our first game we did really well."

Nini Wert, left attack wing, led the PHS attack, scoring four goals, two in each half. Amy Shillaber, first home, and sophomore Lucy Baruch, second home, each scored three times while Mary Bolster, right attack wing, added a pair. Libby Hicks and Emily Rothrock scored single goals. PHS led 10-4 after the first 25-minute half.

Senior Ruth Whitall, cover point, and left defensive wing Mandy Pierson both played well on defense. Others on defense were Jane Bolster, defensive wing; Cathy Arcaro, third man, and Bobby Bassett, point. Goalie Megan Valentine, not tested too often, had four saves.

The Little Tigers were tireless and aggressive against visiting George School, sprinting for loose balls and seemingly beating the losers every time. So impressed was the George School coach with the condition of the PHS girls that she wanted to know how Miss Jones ran her practices.

"Basically, we're a young team; we have a lot of sophomores and juniors on the squad," Miss Jones said. The only seniors on the 19-member varsity squad are Kristen Nelson, Ruth Widel and Jane Bolster -- all former members of her state hockey team.

The Little Tigers will play their home opener Wednesday at 3:30 against Montclair. The girls lacrosse field is located behind the high school.
